ROCK ON! This is a recording....

The 1990-91 school year was filled with so many memorable moments that each needed to be recorded in its own special way. We hope that when you look back at this yearbook and the events recorded in it, that you will remember and relive some of the best times of your life.

As you move on and make your mark in the world, we would like to remind you to have a little fun -- and don't forget to "Rock On!"

LEADERSHIP CAMP ADOPTS ONE-DAY FORMAT

Twelve hours of small-group studying helped generate comraderie and leadership skills at the 4th annual Lancer Leadership Camp held Saturday, Oct. 13, at Camp Abe Lincoln in Blue Grass, Iowa.

Organized by North Scott teachers Tori Maxfield and Paul Flynn, the camp included 63 North Scott students. Other teachers who helped direct the 1990 camp were Marcia Hartman and her husband, Dave; Matt Miller, Superintendent Pat DeLuca and Principal Linda McClurg.

THE CAMPERS and adult leaders left the high school at 8 a.m. and returned at 8 p.m. in a departure from previous camp schedules which had included an overnight stay on Friday as well as the all-day session on Saturday. The one-day schedule was adopted to avoid a conflict with football. The Lancers usually play a game or two on a Thursday night, thus leaving a Friday night available for the Leadership Camp. This year all football games were on Fridays so the overnight session was dropped.

OTHER ACTIVITIES at the camp included group work to enhance communication and leadership skills, killer volleyball games and delirious snack breaks.

Most students and teachers agreed that the overnight element of the camp should be reinstated next year if at all possible, even though the 1990 camp was a success.

UNFORTUNATELY, MANY of the campers and teachers did become ill in the next few days after the camp. Some believe that the illness was related to something they ate at camp.

One underlying purpose of the camp is to promote a spirit of unity and pride in North Scott High School to help the students and, as a result, the school, become the best they can be.

"It is a time for a new generation of leadership, to cope with new problems and new opportunities. For there is a new world to be won."

Homecoming week, Oct. 1-6, was eventful with the days of the week being only part of the fun. Monday was "Pajama Day" and the Queen Coronation Aud. Tuesday was "Do Rag/Slob Day." Wednesday was "Cartoon/Disney Day." Thursday was "Twin Day." Friday was "Red and Gray Day."

Friday, Oct. 5 school was dismissed early for the pep aud at 1:45. The parade started at 3:20 at Ed White Elementary. Mr. Larry Lake and Mr. Andy Agosta, our Grand Marshalls, headed the line-up.

The football game against Davenport West began at 5. The Sophmores got the first win of the night 13-8, but not the last. The Lancer varsity won 23-0 to complete the first Homecoming sweep since 1978.

The North Scott Dance Team, The Silver Shakers, then did their routine following the Sophmores game. Immediately following the performance Queen Traci Hutson and her court were announced.

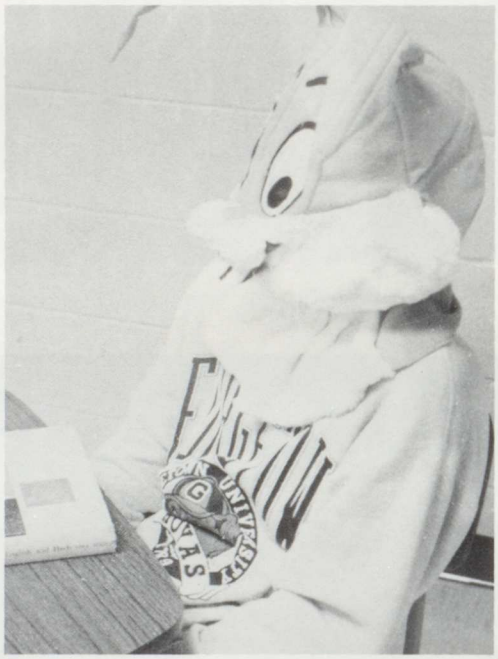

Saturday , Oct. 6, the Homecoming Dance was held in the Pit from 8-11, with the theme of "Will ¡Viva España!

ON JUNE 7, 1990, ten North Scott High School students left for Madrid, Spain. We were led by North Scott Foreign Langugae Teacher John Hawley. Also along were parents Pat Doerscher and Deanna Gehrls.

The students were Kim Doerscher, Jodee Gehrls, Julie O'Rourke, Joy Glover, Anne Brockmann, Jennifer Kirby, Lesley Hamilton, Connie Braden, Cy Miller and I.

We met with another group of students from Green Bay, Wis., in Chicago. Our Interact tour guide, Kevin, also joined us. Fom there we boarded our plane To Madrid via New York. Our total flight was 13 hours.

OUR FIRST DAY we basically found our way around Madrid. We all got a taste of Spain. The city is very busy and you find everyone on the street. It's very crowded. Cars are parked bumper-to-bumper and you literally bump into people everywhere you go.

We spent one night there and the next morning we left to see the sights of Spain. We started off by seeing Don Quixote, and then ventured further to Seville. We went to many cathedrals and palaces. We spent several days there and then left for Torremolinos, the beach.

I think we all enjoyed the beach the most. For one thing, there was a McDonald's, and our hotel had a pool. We all enjoyed the hot sun, which was strongest from 3 in the afternoon until 7.

AT NIGHT SEVERAL of us went to a disco. It was fun. This is how the youth of Spain have a good time.

We also got a lot of shopping done. We were all sad to leave the beach, but we did leave for Madrid.

Our journey from the beach was especially frustrating because all the bus drivers were on strike. We had to take taxis to the nearest bus station and then take a public bus to Granada. We stopped in Granada to cut some of our travel time to Madrid, a total of eight hours.

In Granada we were told we were going to eat octopus, but luckily we were served something like chicken fried steak. That night we experienced some more Spanish culture and went to a carnival. We all rode rides and Flamenco danced.

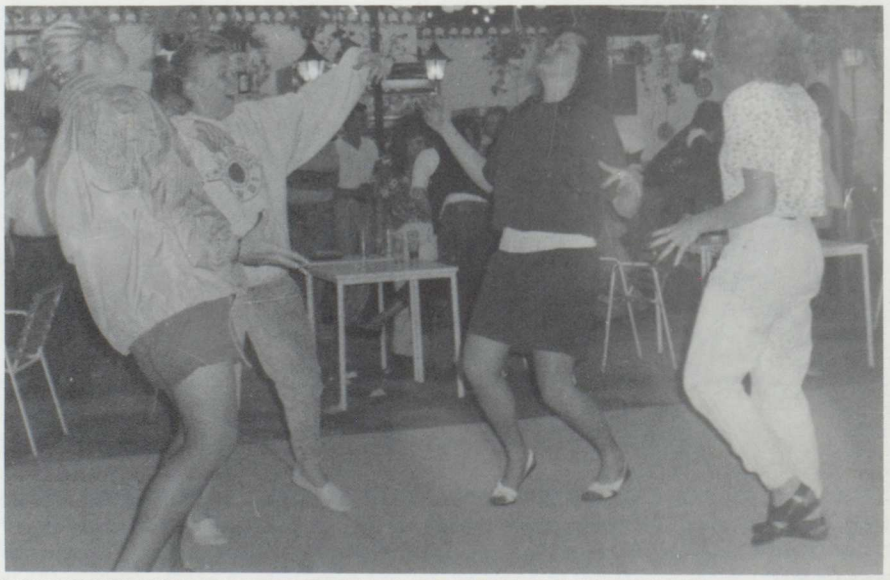

THE NEXT MORNING we left again for Madrid where we spent six nights. In Madrid we went to more cathedrals, the Royal Palace and several museums, including the El Prado, where many of El Greco's works hang.

I think the thing we all gained from Spain was an appreciation of another culture -- and a huge appreciation for American cuisine.

'Channel One' makes debut

North Scott Lancers welcomed Channel One during the 1990-1991 school year. They joined over 4,000 schools nationwide with an estimated audience of more than two million students.

North Scott student views concerning Channel One are mixed.

"It gives me more time to do my homework," says Sophomore Gretchen Hoyt.

"I THINK Channel One is educational and very entertaining," adds Sophomore Clint Maher.

The North Scott School District decided to adopt the controversial news station in the spring of 1990. During the summer the Whittle Corporation, headquartered in Knoxville, Tenn., supplied the school district with enough 19" Magnavox televisions for every homeroom at no cost to the district.

Channel One is viewed during an extended 15-minute homeroom. The daily 12-minute program includes two minutes of commercials surrounded by daily news, "Fast Facts," a "Pop Quiz" and a weekly five-part series centering on information that interests high school students.

THE LATEST in TV graphics also adds zip to the presentations.

Mark Carter, Hicks Neal and Michelle Ruiz, anchors and reporters for Channel One, have become daily fixtures in the lives of Lancer students.

North Scott received $50,000 worth of free electronic equipment in exchange for offering "Channel One."

Good-bye

The friendship we shared was exciting and fun,
we shared our thoughts and things we'd done.
Our friendship will be missed, but our lives will carry on,
even though we'll grow apart we'll just have to go on.
If we live with our memories forever,
we'll believe we can remember each other.
We'll remember our friends happy and sad,
Even though our lives are to be glad.
It will be hard to say good-bye, but it will have to be, as we go
our separate ways,

Gettin' the job done

Life at North Scott High School is made a lot more bearable by the friendly and efficient kitchen staff and the custodial staff. It's not easy serving all those lunches and keeping all those halls and other areas clean after about 800 teenagers have been around, but the North Scott staffs do a great job of both.

First, the kitchen staff of Rita Claeys, Regina Foster (manager), Pat Hartman, Betty Hoag, Judy Klocksiem, Beverly Lake, Janet Rathjen, Mary Rose Smith, Katherine Stender and Lorraine Stender prepare and serve hundreds of lunches each school day.

Most popular lunches this year included chicken nuggets, pizza bobz (pizza on bread) and chicken patty on a bun. Other menus featured hot dogs, tacos, spaghetti, macaroni and cheese, pork choppette, burrito, lasagna, fish, turkey and chili. There's a salad line option available every day as well.

A hamburger line operates every day for those who prefer a burger to that day's menu.

Vegetables, including French fries, potato wedges, whipped potatoes, green beans, carrots and corn are included with the main menu item plus fruit, a cookie, an ice juicey and milk.

All of this cost students $1 per meal or $9.50 for 10 meals.

The daily schedule called for three 25-minute lunch periods -- A Lunch (11:05-11-30); B Lunch (11:30-11:55) and C Lunch (11:55-12:20).

Students were assigned a lunch hour based on the room they were in for their fourth hour class.

THE CUSTODIAL STAFF not only kept he cafeteria clean after all those lunches every day, but kept the classrooms, gyms, auditorium, commons, classrooms and all other areas neat and clean as well.

Heading the custodians was Doug Fisher. Brad Bostrom was the head night custodian. Other custodians were Michael Beaston, Marcia Bortleson, Dale Damann, Dick Erps, Joyce Hengl and Judy Swanson.

Math 'n' Computers

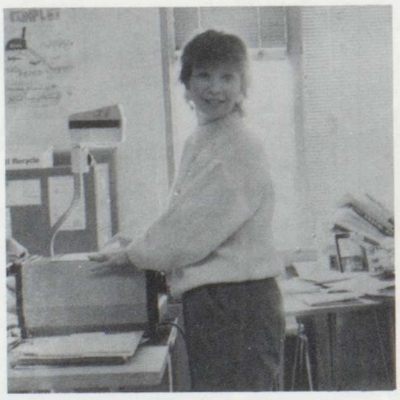

Math classes at North Scott are both challenging and fun. The math courses range from Math I all the way through Introduction to Analytical Geometry and Calculus.

And we can't forget about computers, the fastest mathematicians of all. Computers are used in many classes. Computer Programming I and II classes concentrate on programming in BASIC, a computer language.

North Scott High School's five science labs are kept busy with the many lectures and labs that occur each day. Mr. Newmeister, Mr. Merrick, Mr. Flynn, Mr. Logan, Mrs. Heiman , and Mr. Brown, the science department chairperson, keep it running. The science classes they teach are General Science I, General Science II, Intro. to Biology, Biology, Advanced Placement Biology, Chem Comm, Chemistry, and Physics.

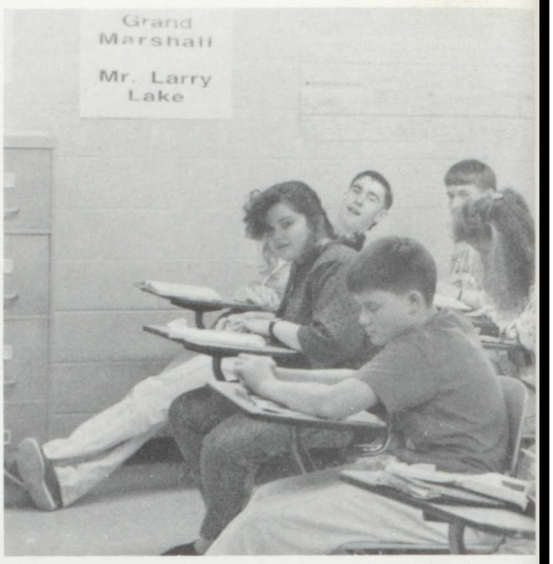

The science teachers have been kept on their toes this year looking after the many animals that the Intro. to Biology students are working with. Despite the escape of a few of them, the projects are fun and worthwhile for everyone.

Social Studies

The social studies department is headed by Mr. Agosta, chairman. The other fine instructors in this department include: Mr. Lake, Mr. Miller, Mr. Denner, and Mr. Scott.

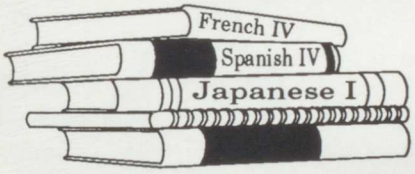

North Scott offers a wide variety of social studies courses. These include: American Issues, World Geography, American History, Ancient History, Medieval History, European History, World Problems, Sociology, Psychology, American Government, and Humanities. The only required courses are American History, American Government and one world history class.

Language

Four years of English are required for admittance to most colleges. This means that North Scott students get to spend a lot of time with Mr. Conrad, Ms. Goedken, Mr. Hennigan, Mrs. Jacobs, Mr. Kielkopf, Mr. Mohr and Mr. Vander Vinne.

Besides the required courses English I and English II, students may choose among the following courses: Discovery Through Reading, Modern Media, Practical Writing, Creative Writing, Public Speaking I and II, Journalism I and II, American Novel, Popular Novel, 20th and 19th Century Literature, Advanced Composition, World Literature, English Literature, Humanities, Newspaper Production, and Yearbook Production.

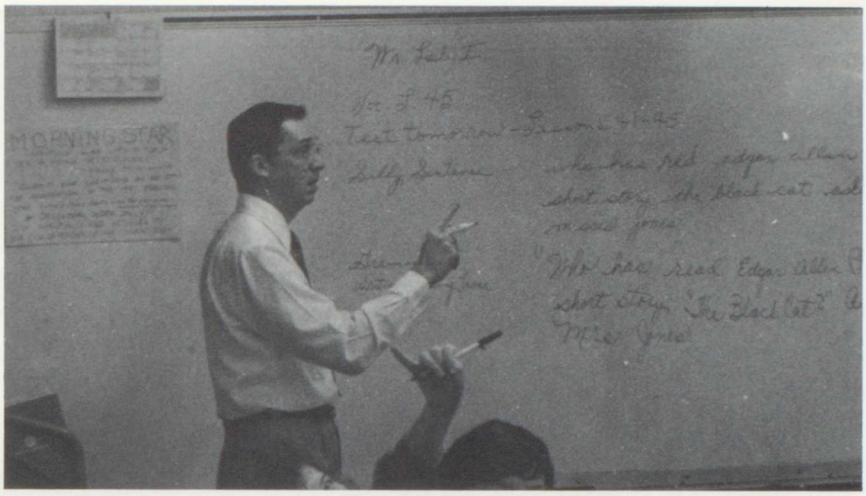

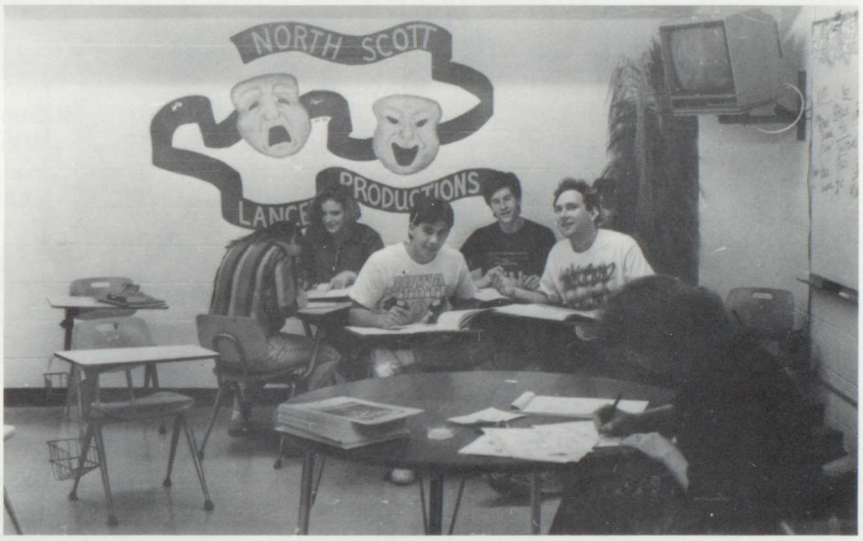

Foreign Language

1990 was the first year that Japanese I was offered at North Scott. It was taught by Yumi Yoshimoto during seventh hour.

Many students also took Spanish I and French I. For those who wished to expand their lingual skills, a full four years of both languages were offered. Mr. Hawley, Mrs. Shileny, and Mrs. Sunday taught Spanish while Mrs. Smith taught French classes.

Students take foreign language to fulfill graduation requirements, for college, or both. Some North Scott students have pursued careers involving foreign language, such as international business executives, translators, and teachers. For whatever reasons a student takes foreign language, they can be assured it will be a fun learning experience.

How do you define 'practical arts'?

Practical Arts includes business education, home economics, vo-ag and industrial arts. Mr. Benjamin, Mr. Dudley, Mrs. Granger, Mrs. Maxfield, Ms. Moore, Mr. Perrine, Mr. Ryan and Ms. Steffensmeir take care of our acedemic requirements in this area.

Shhh...

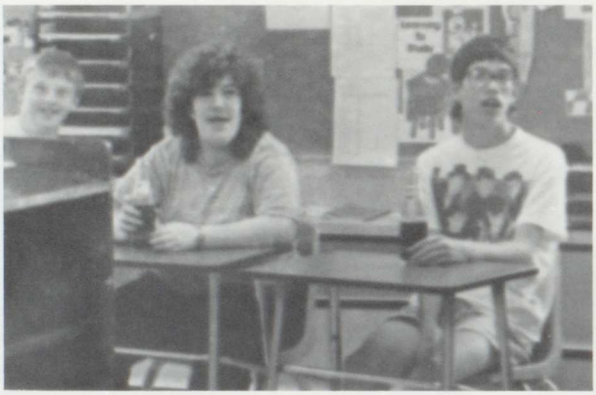

The Media Center is an essential part of any acedemic setting. Our Media Center has over 16,000 books as well as 16 IBM PC jr's and a network of 17 Apple //e's and Apple//gs' connected to a Macintosh SE server. As a new addition to the Media Center is the T.O.M. machine. This machine printa out a hard copy of articles. This provides students with adequate materials to help them survive their 4 years at North Scott High School.

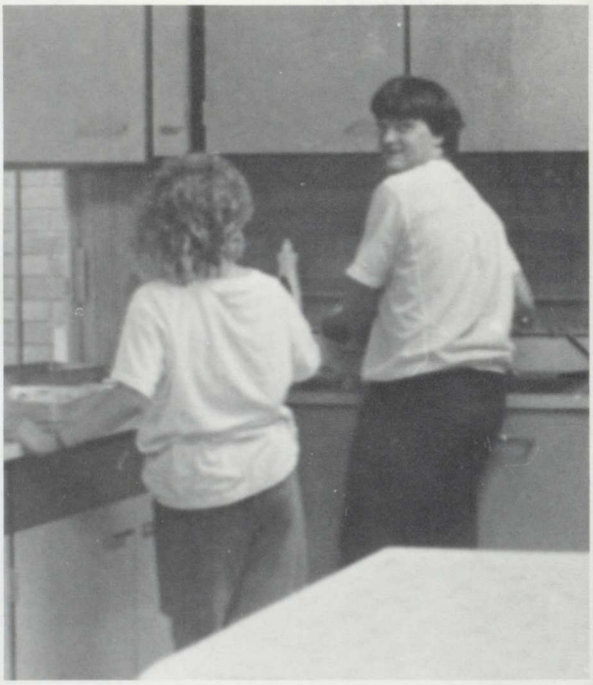

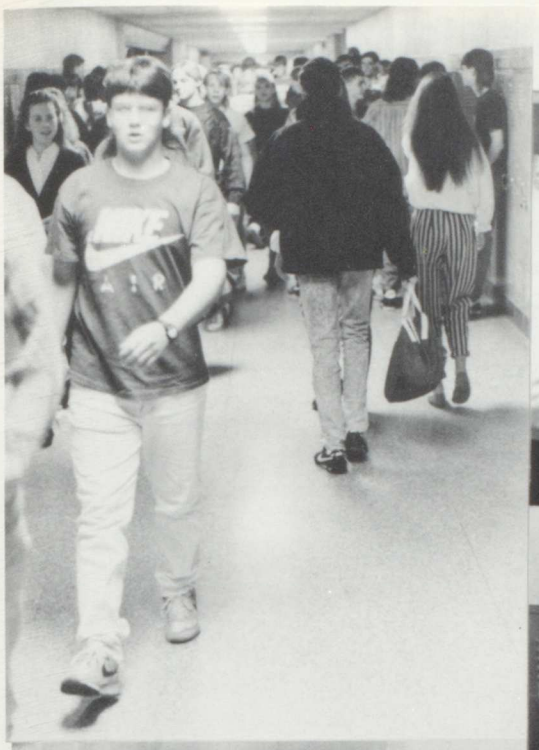

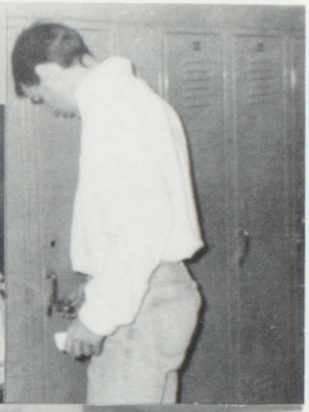

Special Education

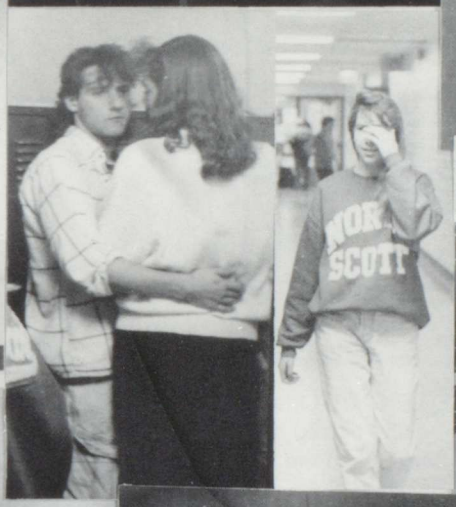

Mrs. Hartwig, Mrs. Tobin, Mrs. Hovey, Mrs. Meador, Mr. Mullin and Mrs. Mohr are in charge of Special Education at North Scott. Besides their regular studies, students take part in many other activities such as unified volleyball and Special Olympics.

Mr. Van Dyke also taught Special Ed. P.E. during sixth hour this year.

LOWER RIGHT: One advantage of closed is homework gets done.

Guidelines for open study hall

1. No detentions
2. Over 2.00 GPA (3.00 for freshmen)
3. No F's
4. 5 full credits

Why is open a privilege?

You have the freedom to talk, to eat, to drink pop, and to basically have a good time with little restriction.

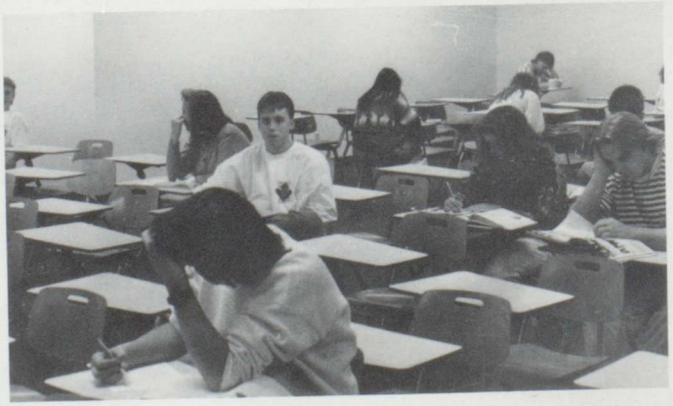

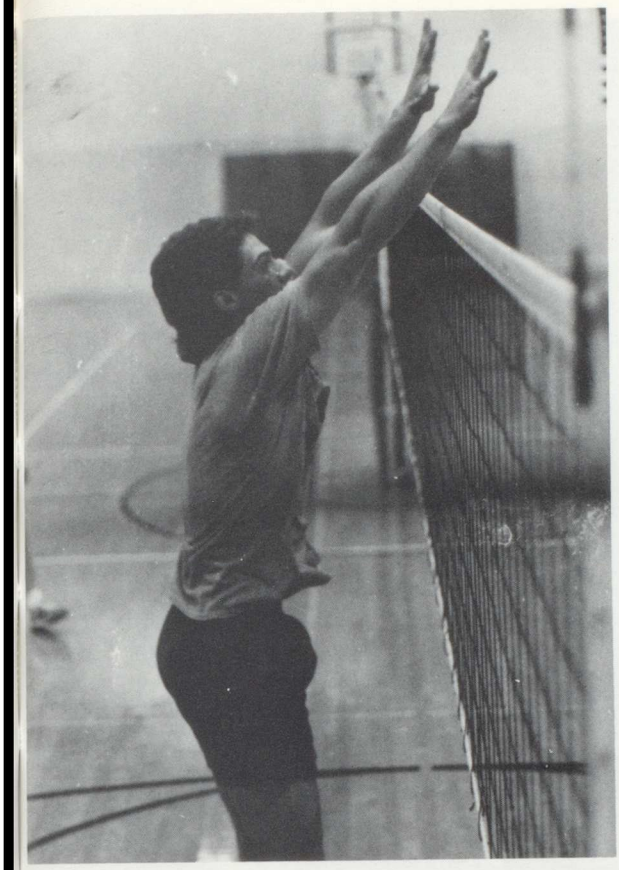

Rules for closed study hall

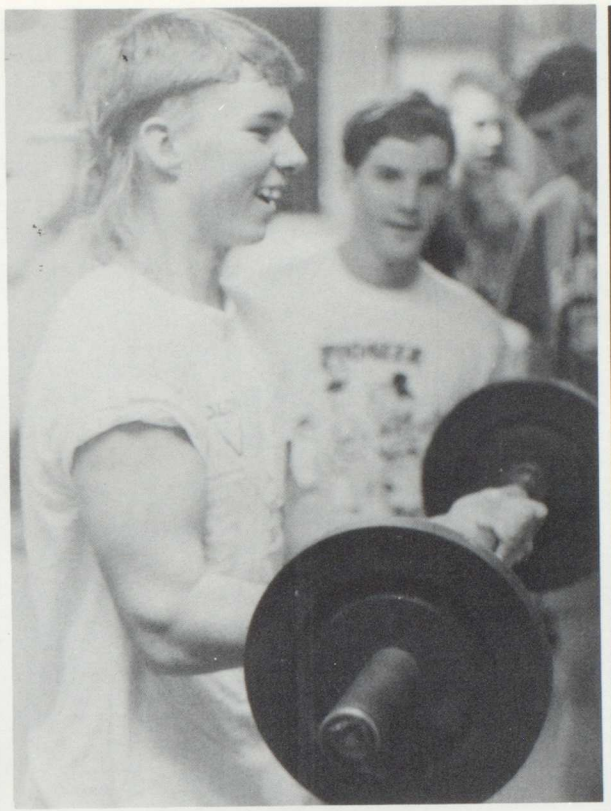

1. Assigned seats
2. No talking
3. Remain busy for the entire period.

It ain't open

All freshmen are assigned to closed study hall, (until second semester if GPA is 3.00), as well as 10th, 11th, 12th graders who have a discipline referral or an F.

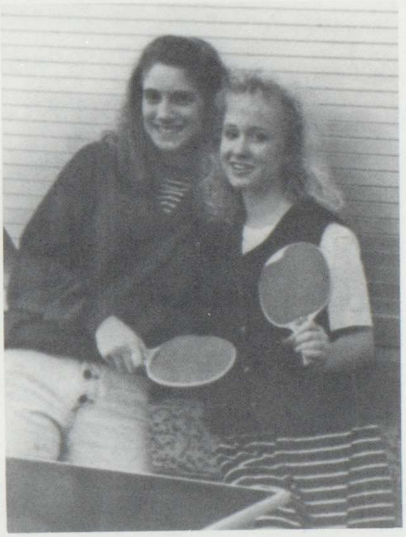

Physical Education

This year, the rules for opting out of P.E. classes changed once again. Athletes, even if they participated in a sport all four quarters, were required to take a Physical Education class each quarter. This made some classes very large, but as they say: The more, the merrier.

This year's Physical Education teachers included Mr. Dale Lacina who taught afternoon P.E. classes, as well as veterans Ms. Linda Behrer, Mrs. Deb Menke, Mr. Steve Schroeder and Mr. Aaron Van Dyke.

Student Congress

Social conscience drives many Student Congress activities and efforts

Student Congress is in charge of many activities throughout the school year. Some of these include the blood drive, the student hunger drive and homecoming activities.

Student Congress also works with the faculty and administration, offering ideas about such topics as the attendance policy and other areas of student concern.

Mrs. Tori Maxfield was the faculty sponsor of Sstudent Congress. The 1990-91 Student Congress officers were Clint Schnekloth, president; Kelli Neilson, vice president; Cathy Roesler, secretary; Ron Zimmer, treasurer.

Other members of Student Congress were:

SENIORS -- Jeff Keppy, Gretchen Madsen, Julie O'Rourke and Ryan Riewerts.

JUNIORS -- Jenny Birtell, Julie Boley, Anne Brockmann, Tracy Coulter and Tricia Graham.

SOPHOMORES -- Konni Cawiezell, Kristen Horn, Sara Kirby, Amy Neilson, Tami Schwarz and Susan Tapper.

FRESHMEN -- Matt Whisler, Cris Higareda, Herb Sawyer, Angie Schnorrenberg, Jerry Shaver.

The Hunger Drive, coordinated by Student Congress, helped feed thousands of Quad-Citians.

FCA OFFICERS – Top Row: Lisa Holden, Glenn Armstrong, Co-ed Huddle leaders; Kelli Ferguson, secretary.
Bottom Row: Ron Knoche, Treasurer; Kristen Horn, social chairman; Dorothy Armstrong, music chairman.

FCA was founded by Don McClanen in 1954 in Norman, Oklahoma.

This year was another exciting and important one for North Scott's Fellowship of Christian Athletes huddle group. The North Scott huddle, led by veteran faculty sponsor Deac Ryan, was again one of the largest and most active in Iowa.

Nationwide, there are more than 4,000 huddle groups.

The Lancers' FCA huddle boasted nearly 100 members in 1990-91, with about 75% of the members being non-athletes who wanted to share in Christian fellowship at school. Meetings featured guest speakers, provocative and challenging films and other activities. Meetings were usually held in the commons at 7 p.m. on Mondays.

Funds for the organization came largely from the sale of candy bars. The candy sale was held from Sept. 17-Oct. 12.

FCA took its annual trip to Ames to see Iowa State play Western Michigan on Sept. 29. The annual mini-retreat was held Tuesday, Oct. 30 at the high school. The annual Marshalltown mini-retreat was held Friday, April 5 through Sunday, April 7.

Close-up does D.C.

Heading for the seat of power

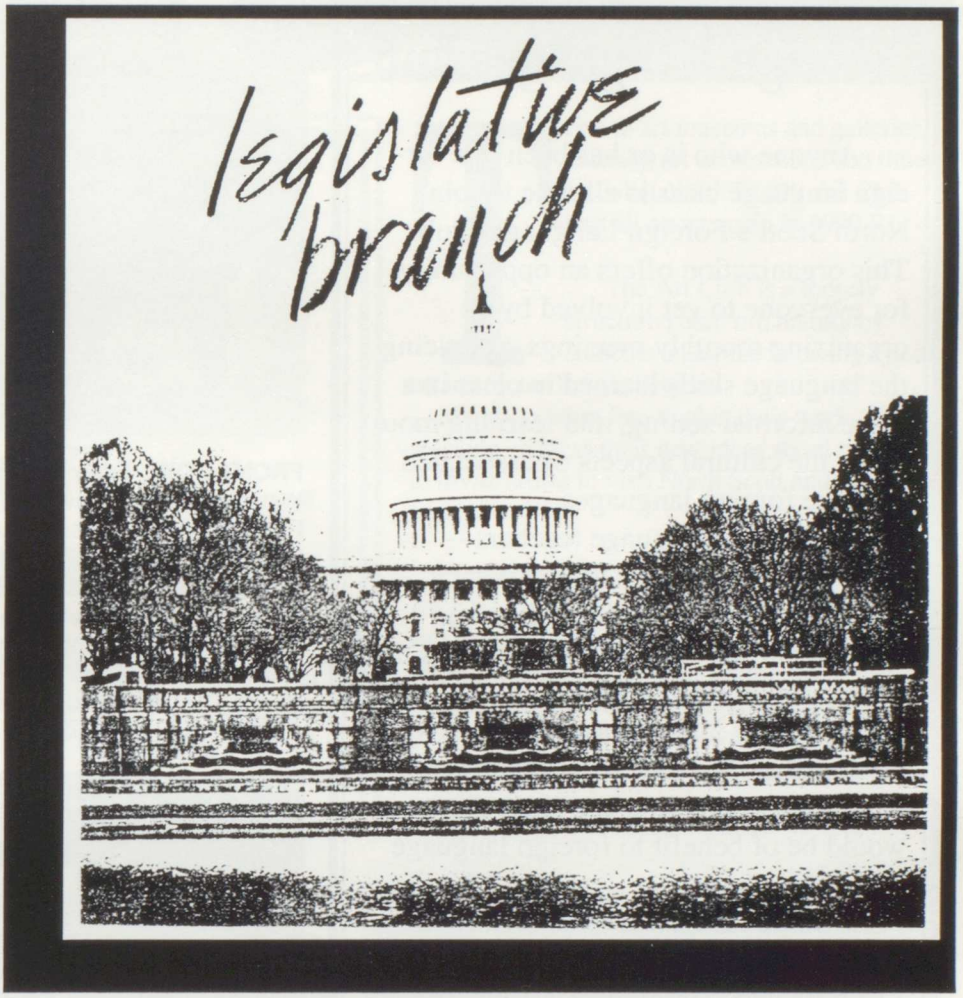

CLOSE-UP IS a group of North Scott students organized to learn more about the U.S. government and its operations.

Don Scott is the faculty sponsor of the North Scott Close-Up program.

Members of Close-Up this year were Sheri Catlin, Jean Filson, Kelly McDonnell, Kelli Neilson, Julie O'Rourke, Jennifer Petersen, Barb Petersen, Rhonda Schneckloth and Jennie Schnoor.

North Scott's Close-Up group visited Washington, D.C., from April 14-20, along with other Close-Up groups from all over the U.S.

DURING THE WEEK the students enjoy a week-long learning adventure that brings to life what they've studied at school and seen in the news. The students said they gained great insights into how our democracy works as they explored our nation's past, present and future -- close-up.

"Washington is a city of southern efficiency and northern charm."

"The wave of the future is not the conquest of the world by a single dogmatic creed but the liberation of the diverse energies of free nations and free men."

Foreign Language Club

Foreign Language Club

Anyone who is or has been in a foreign language class is eligible to join North Scott's Foreign Language Club. This organization offers an opportunity for everyone to get involved by organizing monthly meetings, practicing the language skills learned in class in a more informal setting, and learning more about the cultural aspects of associated with the foreign languages.

All foreign language teachers -- Nancy Shileny, Marya Smith, Nancy Sunday and John Hawley -- are joint sponsors of the club, but Hawley was the primary sponsor this year.

Activities include one major party, participation in International Week, carnation sales and other activities that would be of benefit to foreign language students.

Foreign Language Club officers this year were Tamara Stolpe, president; Sarah Rashid, secretary/treasurer; and Lily Auliff, activities director.

Art Club

Trips to art museums and galleries, entering art contests and fun times are what North Scott's Art Club was all about again in 1990-91.

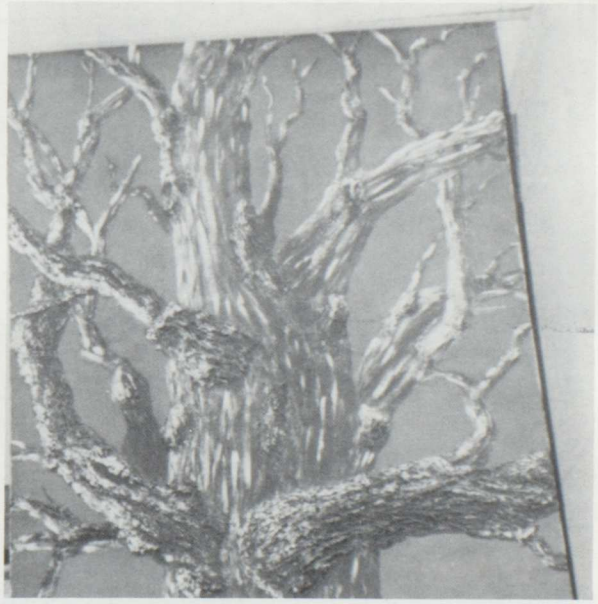

The Art Club is a loosely structured club run mainly by students under the knowing eye of art instructor Bernie Peeters.

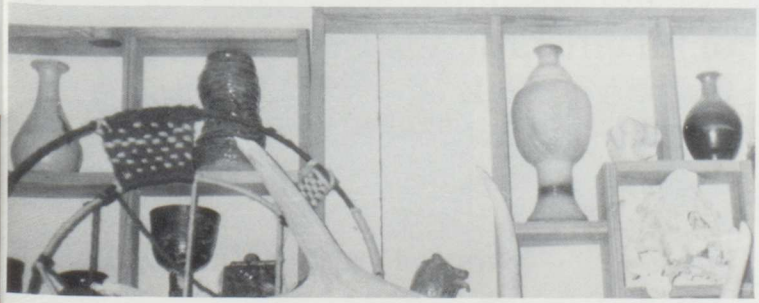

Members were free to plan their work sessions, express their new ideas about projects, to invite artists to visit North Scott and to take art trips.

"COMPETING IN THE contests that our Art Club participates in was a good experience and gave me a chance to see a variety of student art work," said Senior Pam Dalton.

Last year the Art Club began decorating the school by painting the cafeteria, putting a North Scott symbol in a hallway and other similar projects designed to enhance the school's look.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY, a national organization sponsored by the National Association of Secondary School Principals, involves students with outstanding academic credentials.

Any sophomore, junior or senior with a grade point average of 3.4 or above becomes a candidate for membership in the society.

Upon application the candidates write a short essay and indicate their school and community activities. Points are awarded to candidates who have demonstrated strengths in character, scholarship, leadership and service to their community.

If enough points are received, the person is then considered by the entire faculty for membership. The local chapter, the Phyllis Heuer Chapter, held its 21st annual awards and induction ceremony in April, 1991.

ACADEMIC DECATHLON

"THE ACADEMIC DECATHLON was a good experience," said Ron Knoche, senior. "Not only did you have to be knowledgeable of all the academic subjects but you also had to be able to communicate well."

On Saturday, Feb. 8, 1991, seven North Scott students participated in the United States Academic Decathlon. The members of the team were Sheri Catlin, Bob Kilzer, Ron Knoche, Mary Pittman, Cathy Roesler, Adrian Sherrill and Matt Teeples.

THE DECATHLON was held at Plesant Valley High School where eight local high schools competed to win the honors to advance to the national level.

The day consisted of each student taking a series of six tests on the subjects of mathematics, science, social studies, economics, langugae and literature and fine arts.

EACH STUDENT also gave a four-minute prepared speech, an impromptu speech and had an interview with the judges.

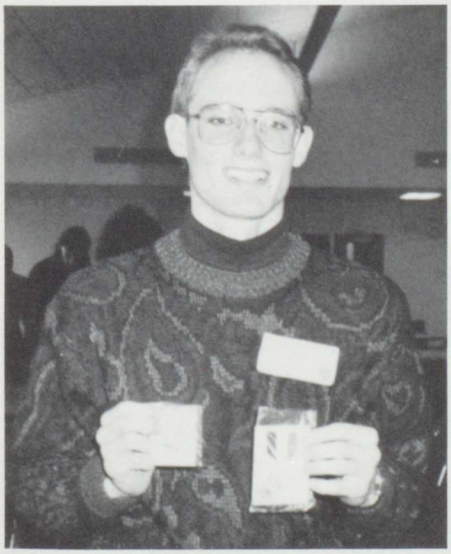

The tests were scored and the top 15 scores were announced. Points were given to the individuals as to the number of correct answers on the tests and also were tabulated on the team score. There were points given for the speech and interview competitions as well.

AT THE END of the day there was a Super Quiz competition in which everyone from each of the three levels -- honors, scholastic and varsity -- went on stage and were asked ten questions on space exploration. Points were alloted to the team for this event.

Ron Knoche, who was in the scholastic division, was awarded a first place medal in the science test, was in the top 15 in the interview and placed second overall. Sheri Catlin, Bob Kilzer and Mary Pittman placed in the top 15 in the math test.

Lancer Productions performs four plays during '90-'91 school year

SECOND ROW: Jenny Wiese, Danelle Peterson, Amy Bouril, Donna Noel, Kelli Andresen, Ryan Riewerts, Jason Holden.
THIRD ROW: Mark Peters, Karri Pacha, Jeff Cordts, Matt Teeples, Adrian Sherrill, Kori Jorgensen, Amanda Orris.
FOURTH ROW: Bill Andresen, Erin Guss, Randy Riewerts, Angie Hansen.
BACK ROW: Jamie Pieper, Jenny Noel, Kari Dugan, Gregg Campbell, Lynn Peterson, Matt Whisler, Justin Levsen, Maria Gross.

Lancer Productions involves a group of student actors and actresses who like the idea of becoming someone else for an hour or two. This school year LP presented "The Outsiders," "A Christmas Carol," "South Pacific," and "The Little Mermaid."

This year was unusual for LP in that usually only three plays are presented each year. The "extra" play this year -- "A Christmas Carol" -- was made possible when Brant Peitersen and Amy Bouril volunteered to serve as student directors for Dickens' classic Christmas tale.

Many LP members also compete in speech contests at high schools throughout the area.

The performing aspect of LP, however, is only part of the story. Often overlooked is the work that many students do behind-the-scenes as members of LP's stage crew.

Stage crew members constructs and paints the scenery which adds so much to each production. During the actual performances, stage crew members work the lights, operate the curtains, move the scenery and props between acts and handle many similar chores that a necessary, even if not always appreciated by the audience, to the overall excellence of Lancer Productions.

This year's Lancer Production officers were Brant Peitersen, president; Kelli Andresen, vice president; Jason Holden, treasurer; Kim Rigby, secretary; Ryan Riewerts, historian; and Shawn Schroeder, parliamentarian.

FFA: 2% of Americans feed the world

The number of Americans who list farming as their primary occupation has been declining steadily for decades.

At the same time, the number of students at North Scott High School who participate in the Future Farmers of America organization have also been declining.

But as the FFA's numbers have declined, its importance has grown as a result.

Janet Steffensmeier, North Scott ag teacher and FFA adviser, said that 1990-91 was another successful school year for her students.

MANY FFA members entered livestock judging contests, inlcuding ones held in conjunction with the Mississippi Valley Fair during the late summer.

FFA meetings were held about once a month at 8 p.m. on Thursday nights.

The FFA chapter grew plants in the school greenhouse and test plots.

ON MARCH 21 the FFA annual banquet was held at 6 p.m. at the high school.

Members also participated in soil judging and studied agriculture sales, agronomy, animal sciences, forestry, horticulture, landscaping and other agricultural sciences.

All North Scott students who are enrolled in one of the vocational agriculture classes were eligible to participate in the FFA.

On-the-job training

YOU ONLY saw this group of seniors at school in the mornings. Why? Because they participated in the multi-occupations class that met fourth hour. They attended classes in the morning and were released to go to work in the afternoon.

Some of the jobs they had this school year included working at United Parcel Service (UPS), Bawden Printing, the Rock Island Arsenal, J.C. Penney and Citizen's Federal.

CO-OP WAS developed to give students an opportunity to learn about the business world and to gain some work experience before leaving high school. Students receive course credit while in school and while at work. Tori Maxfield directs the co-op program.

STUDENTS INVOLVED in the Co-op program include: Jennifer Claeys, Michele Davis, Jennifer Drummond, Karol Ferguson, Ryan Fier, Aaron Gray, Christy Haase, Tammy Hernandez, Lee Hess, Rob Hovey, Nate Jones, Jon Lange, Krista Longlett, Doug Loussaert, Amber Melcher, Brad Nichols, Heidi Otte, Rachael Padavich, Amy Quinn, Toni Rikke, John Santee, Amy Siem, Heather Towers, Natalie Ulloa, Tricia Wilcox, Elle Wood, Brandi Younkin.

"Working in the office is fun because the people who work in here make it that way."
-- Nikki Davis, Class of '93

Office Helpers: 'They are invaluable!'

Myra Kreiter, associate principal's secretary; Barb Willis, activities secretary and office aide Karen Frieden agree: student office helpers made their jobs a whole lot easier this year.

Student office helpers performed such tasks as collecting attendance sheets from all classrooms each hour, answering phones and delivering messages.

"They are invaluable!" Mrs. Willis said of the '90-'91 crop of student office helpers.

WHY DID students volunteer to work in the office?

"I like working in the office for many reasons," said Karla Ferguson, senior. "I can order a lot of popcorn from Special Olympics and it gets me out of closed study hall. And it also gives me the opportunity to wander the halls and get by Mr. Mohr without a pass!"

SOPHOMORE NIKKI DAVIS said, "Working in the office is fun because the people who work there make it fun."

Senior Pam Dalton summed it up this way: "Working in the office is not only fun, but it gives you a chance to see how it really works on the other side of the desk."

Other office helpers this year were Michele Davis, Jenny Owens, Alicia Dewey, Rachel Berodt, Andy Fite, Cheryl Claussen and Dorothy Armstrong.

OFFICE HELPERS are unpaid volunteers, but this year there were also two office education students who worked in the office for half-a-day every day and attended classes the other half-days.

Karol Ferguson and Toni Rikke, both seniors, filled these office education roles.

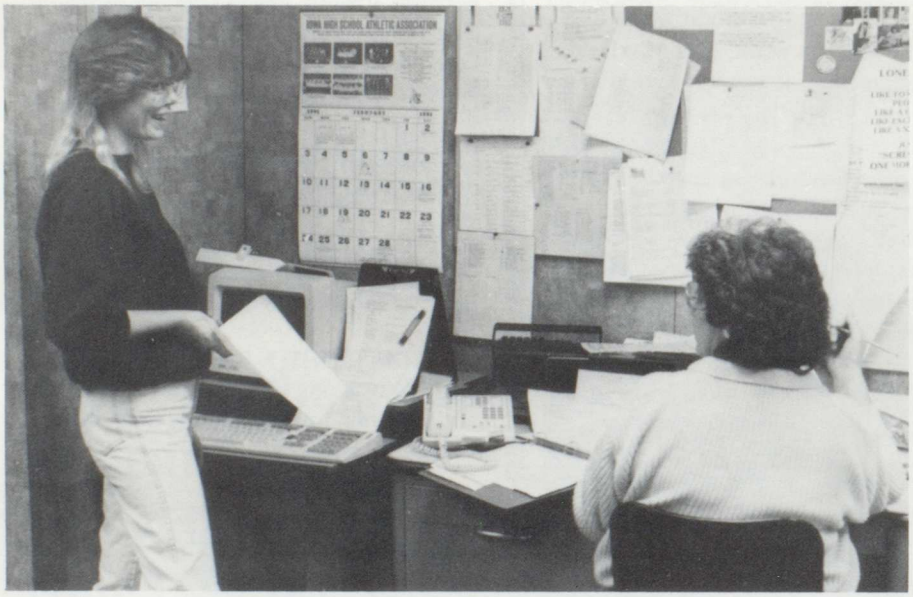

Karol worked in the principal's office as an assistant to the principal's secretary, Karen Skaala.

TONI WORKED in the associate principal's office assisting the secretaries and administrators there.

Karol's jobs included typing and filing, typing checks for purchase orders and other duties.

Toni typed the daily announcements, took phone calls, ran photocopies and many other chores.

Office education students were paid minimum wage, $4.25 per hour.

Library Workers: "Shhh..."

Library Workers 'essential' to area's effective operations

A FEW STUDENTS, on their free time, worked in the North Scott Library/Media Center. One such student worker was Amanda Hesse.

"Working the library has given me experience working with all the reference materials," she said, "and it has also given me a lot of responsibility."

Each student worker had to meet several requirements including a "C" average, a commitment to work at least nine weeks and the recommendation of three current teachers. The student workers were also required to attend training sessions after school.

SOME TASKS of our library workers included circulation, graphic displays, records maintenance, typing and materials preparation.

Quentin Coffman, head of the library/media center, and Lorraine Young, assistant, supervised the student workers.

"It would be very difficult to operate the library program without the students' help," said Coffman. "They are essential to us and we appreciate their help."

Lance distributes to over 6,000 people per month

Lancer Lingo * Pump It or Dump It * Family Album * Blast from the Past * Twins * Pet Tales * How do you define... "Hero"? * The best gift you ever gave EVERYTHING FROM CHANGES in the school to the Milli Vanilli lip-synching fraud to Operation Desert Shield to twins at North Scott were subjects of Lance stories and editorials this year.

Whatever topic The Lance covered from the first issue on Sept. 26 to the ninth and final issue in mid-May, more than 6,000 people each month had the opportunity to see North Scott's student newspaper. That is true because The Lance is included as an insert in the North Scott Press weekly newspaper once each month during the school year. In addition, about 500 copies were distributed free each month at school -- often with an additional six or eight "Extra" pages that were not part of the NSP insert. The "Extra" editions were produced so the 14-person staff -- largest in many years -- had ample room for coveragewhile keeping costs down.

FOR THE THIRD year, The Lance was produced camera-ready on the publications department's two Macintosh SE desktop computers and the Apple Laserwriter II printer.

Co-Editors Sheri Catlin and Jacque Hammes combined to lead the staff through a challenging and successful year.

Other '90-91 staff members were Greg Langfitt, photo editor; Brant Peitersen, entertainment editor; Kimm Meyers, news editor; Tracy Coulter, special projects editor; Cy Miller, general assignment; Ryan Riewerts, columnist; Beth Moore, opinion writer; Mark Szemkus, music reviewer; Sarah Rashid and Alisa Ulloa, sports editors; Tamara Stolpe, advertising director; Brian Wallis, research editor.

The first four issues of the '90-'91 Lance were printed in an 8 1/2 x 11 magazine style but, to take advantage of lower publishing costs, the final five issues were produced in a tabloid, 11 x 17 format, the same as the North Scott Press.

'91 Shield staff 'Rocks On' to capture Lancer lifestyles

MAKING A YEARBOOK special, making it reflect as uniquely as possible one particular year in the life of a high school is a far more difficult task than most understand. That reality set in quickly for the Shield staff when school started in late August and continued to make an impression until the final deadline was met in late March. In between, well, maybe you had to be there....

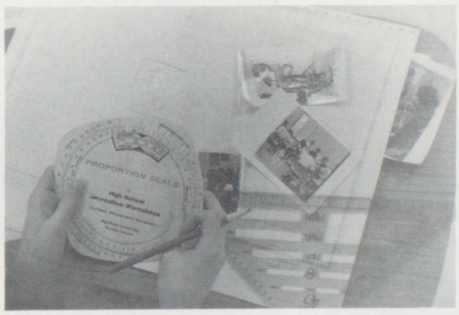

For the record, though, the Shield staff shot approximately 3,000 photos, used more than 400 feet of 35mm film, used over 40 gallons of darkroom chemicals, used more than 1,000 sheets of 5 x 7 photo paper, contacted nearly 100 potential advertisers, created dozens of pieces of art, attached about 2,000 stickers to the backs of photos and spent more than $15,000 -- but no tax money. The yearbook budget depends upon the sales of the book itself, advertising and miscellaneous income.

THE MAJOR DIFFERENCE in the organization of the yearbook staff this year was the addition of two teachers -- Bernie Peeters, art instructor, and Denny Hennigan, English instructor. Peeters and Hennigan volunteered to assist with the yearbook rather than perform duties as study hall monitors or cafeteria supervisors.

Hennigan focused primarily on developing a strong advertising effort, one that has been very successful.

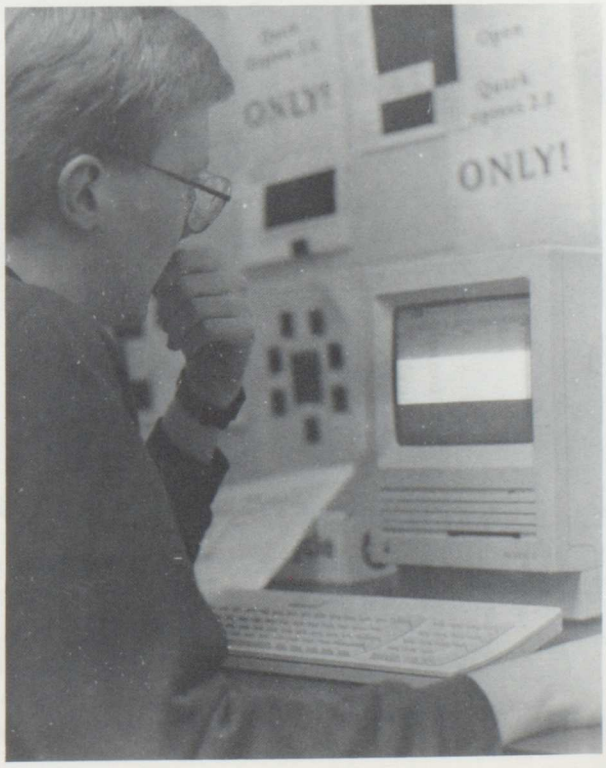

Peeters used his art expertise to assist the art students on the staff in designing the beautiful cover, the division pages and many other art elements for the '91 Shield. Mike Kielkopf was the adviser.

Including many stressful and lonely hours after school working on the Macintosh SE's, Co-Editors David Kilzer and Amy Drenter led a team effort that has resulted in the 1991 Shield. We tried to be fair and accurate. We hope you enjoy our efforts.

Morning Star. Not only is it a medieval weapon, but it also signifies the awakening spirit and potential of young writers at North Scott High School.

Under the direction of Language Arts Department Chairman Gene Conrad, Vol. 8 of the Morning Star provided an excellent display of the creative writing and artistic skills of North Scott students.

A small group of individuals works toward the production of the magazine through advertising sales, typesetting on the Macintosh desktop system and camera-ready page design on the Mac as well.

Forms of expression included in the Morning Star are short stories, poems and various art formats.

Morning Star also sponsored the annual spring "Writer's Workshop." During the workshop students applied or were recommended by an English teacher to participate in various writing activities and contests organized by Conrad. Students also heard an address by a guest speaker.

"No tears in the writer, no tears in the reader."

The Outsiders is a touching story about two different social groups. The Greasers are the hoods, the J.D.'s, the guys from the wrong side of the tracks. The Soc's are the well-to-do, wealthy people from the West side of town.

During the first weekend in November the cast brought the classic story to the auditorium stage. The play was directed by Mrs. Judith Jacobs with Brant Peitersen, student director; Kelli Andresen, student producer; and Jason Holden, business director.

"It was a story that everyone could relate to. It was about friendships, love, pride, and everything else that a high school student thinks about, even today."

The 1991 Swing Show really lived up to its name in this rousing number that filled the stage.

Huge Swing Show cast has fun with 'I Hear Music'

HIGHLIGHTS OF THE 1991 Swing Show included senior solos by Sheri Catlin, Clint Schnekloth and Ryan Riewerts.

Catlin played "Georgia on my Mind" on alto saxophone. Schnekloth played "Someone to Watch Over Me" on trombone and Riewerts sang "Hello, Again," accompanied by the jazz band.

Another highlight was the combined choirs presentation of "Love in Any Language" which featured the singers use of sign language throughout the number.

THE PRODUCTION, an annual event, was held on Friday night, March 15, and Saturday, March 16 in the high school auditorium. Both performances began at 8 p.m.

Performing groups were Jazz I, Chamber Singers, Swing Choir and the Swing Show Dancers. Jazz II provided the pre-show.

Tickets for the presentation were $4 for adults and $2 for students and senior citizens.

"Anytime I think my world is wrong, I get me out of bed and sing this song. "I hear music, mighty fine music..."

The program was centered around movie and show tunes, but it had everything from Broadway music to jazz to funk to Latin.

Chamber Singers present "Up the Ladder to the Roof," "Java Jive" and "Singin' in the Rain."

SWING CHOIR presented "Under the Sea" and "Let the River Run."

The choirs combined for rousing renditions of "What a Wonderful World" and "A Wonderful Day Like Today."

Swing Show Dancers hoofed it to "42nd Street" and "New York, New York." The dancers were choreographed by Erica Ford. The group included Taga Dumerauf, Wendy Skadal, Sally Donaubauer, Amy Hotchkiss, Ellen Miller, Sarah Whisler, Adrianne Sharp, Amy Drenter, Edelyn Hubner, Teresa Looney and Renee Nestler.

Kathy Bopp and Jason Holden handled the duties of Masters of Ceremonies.

THE SWING SHOW dancers get formal in this number. They are Edelyn Hubner, Ellen Miller, Teresa Looney, Amy Drenter, Renee Nestler, Amy Hotchkiss, Wendy Skadal, Taga Dumerauf, Sarah Whisler, Sally Donaubauer.

SWING SHOW SCENES -- Here are many of the scenes you'll remember from the 1991 Swing Show. It was a memorable celebration of song and dance.

Dinner Theatre 1991 presents...

South Pacific

"The cast and crew of SOUTH PACIFIC dedicate this show to our troops engaged in Operation Desert Storm."

IN THE PACIFIC ISLANDS DURING WORLD WAR II – Amy Bouril (Bloody Mary) examines her collection of boar's tooth bracelets, shrunken heads, grass skirts and other exotic souvenir items while the U.S. Marines and Navy Seebees sing of their plight. Rob Pinter (Larson), Jeff Cordts (Seeman Tom O'Brien), Kori Jorgenson (Seebee Kenneth Johnson) and Randy Riewerts (Radio operator) stand their ground.

The 1991 Dinner Theatre was presented on Friday and Saturday, Feb. 8 & 9 with a show only matinee on Sunday, Feb. 10. Dinner & Show tickets were $12. Show only was $5 . A "student night" show was presented Thursday, Feb. 7. Tickets were $2 per student.

'South Pacific' thrills big North Scott crowds

RODGERS' AND HAMMERSTEIN'S World War II classic musical has been performed thousands of times over nearly a half-century, but seldom has a high school cast been so aptly talented to present it.

"There were a lot of awfully nice kids out there," said Mrs. Judith Jacobs, director. "We've done a lot of serious drama, difficult things like "Godspell,' and done them well over the years, but I can't think of another time when an entire cast was so suited to their roles as this one. Everyone was in a perfect spot to shine."

And shine they did through three performances and a student night special.

AMY BOURIL was superb as "Bloody Mary." Shawn Schroeder (Emile de Beque) and Jenny Wiese (Ensign Nellie Forbush) were strong in the leads.

Brant Peitersen (Luther Billis) showed his acting maturity and versatility in this key role. Ryan Riewerts (Lt. Joseph Cable) was outstanding.

"South Pacific" was selected last school year, long before there was any hint of America going to war again.

"It was kind of neat for us to do it under the circumstances," said Brant Peitersen. "It made it all more meaningful for us. We tried to present the funny side of the military to provide a little relief from the seriousness of Operation Desert Storm."

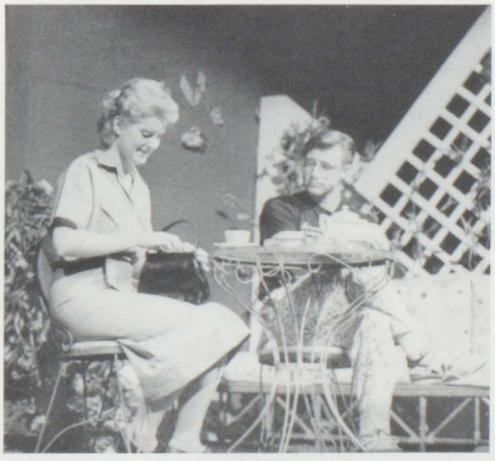

Peitersen added that many area veterans, including Driver Ed. teacher Ken Nevenhoven, a Vietnam vet, had donated military uniforms and other costumes and props for the performance.

Dickens' classic presented under direction of seniors

THE SENIOR MEMBERS of Lancer Productions thought it would be neat to do a Christmas presentation. They volunteered to handle all the duties associated with such a production and, as a result, North Scott was treated to an endearing version of "A Christmas Carol" on Friday, Dec. 21 and matinee and evening performances on Saturday, Dec. 22.

Senior members of Lancer Productions designed and built the sets, collected and chose costumes, directed and produced the play. General admission was $3.

THE PRODUCTION STAFF included Amy Bouril and Brant Peitersen, directors; Tim Cook, technical director; Jay Gale, assistant technical director; Jason Holden, business director; Kelli Andresen, producer; Jenny Wiese and Danelle Peterson, costumers; Donnal Noel, make-up.

Jason Holden played Ebeneezer Scrooge with Clint Schnekloth as Bob Cratchit. Young Josh Andresen played Tiny Tim.

Marley's ghost was played by Jeff Cordts. The ghosts of Christmas Past, Present and Future were played by Melanie Holdorf, Brant Peitersen and Tim Cook, respectively.

OTHER CAST MEMBERS were Karen Olson, Mrs. Cratchit; Matt Teeples, Peter; Edelyn Hubner, Belinda; Kevin Johnson, Man No. 1; Randy Riewerts, Fred; Jesse Driscoll, Rob; Justin Levsen, Young Fred; Gregg Campbell, George; Matt Whisler, Young Scrooge; Cristina Higareda, Fan; Ryan Riewerts, Fezziwig; Mark Peters, Dick; Adrian Sherrill, Ebeneezer; Molly O'Brien, Mrs. Fezziwig; James Pieper, Fiddler; Lily Auliff, Charlotte; Kelli Andresen, Martha; Bill Andresen, Joe; Kim Rigby, Charwoman; Erin Guss, Laundress' Paul Sager, Man No. 2.

The "partygoers" rounded out the cast: Dan Davis, Taga Dumerauf, Cory Ferrell, Blake Hamman, Kelli Hammes, Aimee McGimpsey, Heidi Lung, Amanda Orris, Jason Stillwell and Lynn Voelkel.

After each performance, the audience participated in a holiday sing-along.

A message from make-believe

Choral Readers --
It's only make believe

Under the direction of Danelle Peterson and Jenny Wiese, seniors, North Scott's Choral Readers spent many anonymous hours perfecting their special brand of make-believe.

Nestled into the Driver Education area behind the auditorium pods, the Choral Readers read and re-read their lines and played their parts to turn fantasy into thought-provoking drama.

Choral Readers are required to read from scripts and may wear costumes.

TOGETHER THEY selected a childrens book entitled "The Seal Mother" by Mordicai Gerstein. They competed at Monticello for district contest and earned a Division I rating.

They traveled to state contest at Pella on Saturday, Feb. 9.

The Choral Readers continued their impressive performances by returning from state with another Division I rating.

Marching band young but labeled 'outstanding'

"This year's marching band is extremely young with only 16 seniors," says Mr. Dan Anderson, band director, "though this isn't a flaw to their performance. They're an outstanding group of musicians."

At half-time of the Homecoming game the band presented a show based on cartoon themes. The music included "Under the Sea" from The Little Mermaid ; "Somewhere Out There" from An American Tail; "Forty-Second Street," "Strike Up the Band," "Caravan" and "Take the A-Train."

Jazz I won the Class B competition at the Augustana Jazz Band Festival on Saturday, Dec. 1, 1990. Participating schools were divided into four classes according to the school enrollment. North Scott was competing with five other schools with similar enrollments.

Jazz I, under the direction of Dan Anderson, also won the Class B sightreading competition. This was the fourth consecutive division championship for the Lancer Jazz Band.

MEMBERS OF JAZZ I who received outstanding musicianship awards for their performances were Martin Menke, trumpet; Drew Anderson, trumpet; Clint Schnekloth, trombone; Kris Dinusson, trombone; Melanie Holdorf, vibraphone; Thane Lenig, guitar; Ryan Blodig, drum set.

Drew Anderson was named runner-up for the Outstanding Soloist for the entire festival.

North Scott's Jazz II, under the direction of Bill Kessinger, also participated in the Festival, playing for judges' comments.

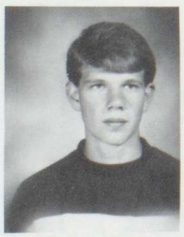

JAZZ II MEMBERS who received musicianship awards for their playing were Kim Wittkop, alto sax; Kevin Meinert, baritone sax; Nate Carlton, trombone.

The North Scott Jazz Bands also were featured in the annual Swing Show on Friday, March 15 and Saturday, March 16, 1991, in the high school auditorium.

All-State Band

ON SATURDAY, Oct. 27, 1990, more than 5,600 Iowa high school musicians and vocalists tried for the designation of "All-State." Only 488 were named to either the all-state band or orchestra. Of those elite few, North Scott claimed eight All-State Band positions.

These eight talented musicians participated in the 44th annual All-State Festival Concert at the Hilton Coliseum at Iowa State University in Ames on Saturday, Nov. 10, 1990.

Musical excellence continued its tradition in the instrumental music department at North Scott High School in 1990-91.

The Concert Band, under the direction of Bill Kessinger, opened the Winter-Spring Concert on Sunday, Feb. 24 at 2:30 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

Featured numbers by the Concert Band included "Imperatrix" by Alfred Reed; "Havendance" by David Holsinger; "Emblem of Unity" by J.J. Richards; and "Rushmore" by Alfred Reed.

THE SYMPHONIC BAND, under the direction of Dan Anderson, closed the program with "Overture to Candide" by Leonard Bernstein; "First Suite in E-flat" by Gustav Holst; "A Copland Tribute" by Clare Grundman; "Serenade for Band" by William Lutham; and "Strike Up the Band" by George Gershwin, arrangement by Warren Barker.

Among many honors and awards received individually and collectively by the instrumental music students included the selection of six Lancers as members of the University of Iowa Honor Band Festival. They were Martin Menke (trumpet); Valeri Schnekloth (percussion); Erin Guss, Jennifer Noel, Ryan Riewerts and Sarah Whisler (French horn).

The Festival concluded with a concert on Sunday, Feb. 17, 1991, in Hancher Auditorium. It was directed by John Whitwell of Stephen F. Austin University.

NORTH SCOTT'S CHAMBER SINGERS entourage is an elite group of musical showmen. The group took its talents to such diverse audiences as Davenport's "Festival of Trees" at the RiverCenter and the high school faculty at its Christmas party in the media center. The group also was featured in the 1991 Swing Show.

Members of the Chamber Singers were selected in open auditions.

Red Choir sings a different tune

Under the direction of Miss Leslie Lein for the first time, North Scott's Red Choir didn't miss a beat. Miss Lein joined the North Scott faculty this year on a one-year contract to replace veteran North Scott Vocal Music Director Keith Haan who spent the year finishing his doctorate.

Red Choir, a non-select organization, again was a popular group with more than 80 North Scott students involved.

The North Scott choral groups opened their performance season with their traditional fall concert in October.

Red Choir performed at the Metro Choir Festival at Davenport North as well as several other North Scott concerts.

Over Christmas the Chamber Singers performed at the Vanderveer Conservatory in Davenport, Eldridge Chamber of Commerce, Blackhawk Gold Room and the Davenport Retired Teachers Association.

A new and regular addition to the Chamber Singers' schedule of performances was their singing of the National Anthemprior to all auds.

The singers also performed at Swing Show and the Tri-School festival hosted by Pleasant Valley High School.

North Scott Singers -- busy, busy, busy

A group of about 50 students (mostly upperclassmen) formed this year's North Scott Singers. The group performs at all North Scott concerts.

One highlight of the year was when the North Scott Singers performed on KWQC-TV (Channel 6, Davenport), for the station's "Choruses of Christmas" special.

The North Scott Singers also sang for Baccalaureate on Wednesday, May 22, and Commencement on Sunday, May 26.

ALL-STATE VOCALISTS -- Front: Ryan Riewerts, Kori Jorgensen. Back: Sarah Blavat, Jenny Birtell, Donna Noel, Jenny Wiese.

A note on Ryan Riewerts' All-State program reads:

"Ryan, Hey! You have such an awesome voice! Keep up your humor."

All-State. Whether it's football, drama, band, academics, vocal music or another area, most high school students would love to be named "All State." Each year, North Scott's vocal music department is well-represented by those who achieve that dream.

This year, North Scott's all-state vocal music selections were Ryan Riewerts, Kori Jorgensen, Sarah Blavat, Jenny Wiese, Donna Noel and Jenny Birtell.

These six students represented North Scott at the 44th annual All-State Festival Concert at Hilton Coliseum on the campus of Iowa State University in Ames on Saturday, Nov. 10, 1990.

The festival was sponsored by the Iowa High School Music Association and the Iowa Music Educators Association.

Some of the numbers the All-Staters sang included "America the Beautiful," "Gloria in Excelsis," "Ave Maria," and "In Dat Great Gittin' Up Mornin'."

The all-staters selected for chorus, band and orchestra totaled 600 -- only 122 for chorus -- from 360 high schools and 5,695 students who auditioned on Saturday, Oct. 27, 1990. Of those 122 chorus all-staters, North Scott had six.

Resolved: Lancers know debate

IN 1990-91, for the first time in 12 years, North Scott fielded a debate team.

Mrs. Beverly Heintz, a professional story teller and substitute speech and drama teacher, was head coach of the North Scott Debate Team. She was assisted by Judith Jacobs, speech and drama teacher.

The Lancer speech team was re-organized largely due to a rebirth of student interest.

The opportunity to join the debate team was available to all students who took Public Speaking II.

Members of the debate team had independent study first hour to research and plan their debate strategy.

"RESOLVED: The United States government should significantly increase space exploration beyond the Earth's mesosphere."

-- First Debate team topic

"It takes students with high-level thinking skills to be debaters," Heintz said.

During debate team meetings the members brain-stormed on the debate topics assigned by the National Convention of Debate Team Coaches.

The debate team competed against area schools in invitational contests and in the Iowa High School Speech Association's State Debate Tournament.

"Senior leadership this year was outstanding," said Jacobs. "The seniors have done a super job of being role models and of setting the standards for the underclassmen."

Debate team members were Ron Knoche, Gretchen Madsen, Doug Loussaert, Jenny Wiese, Shawn Schroeder, Molly O'Brien, Jason Holden and Amy Bouril.

"RESOLVED: U.S. limits on gun control are justified."

-- Second Debate Team topic

What did members of the debate team remember most about North Scott's return to the debate battlefied?

"Debate--Shmate!" Amy Bouril said.

"Do you have a card on that?" Jason Holden said.

"I got a bye! YES!" Amy Bouril said.

"I believe you guys can do this." Everyone said it, although this motivating phrase died out toward the end of the year, team members agreed.

"EVIDENCE?" everyone said.

Even though the debate team lost all its contests, "At least we ate Chinese a lot," one member noted.

THE WINNINGEST season in North Scott history (17-14) and the first win over Davenport Central since 1981 highlighted the '90 summer baseball season for the Lancers.

Top individual performers included Bill Carter, Tony Salas, Jeff Johannsen, Brad VanPelt, J.R. Randall, Eric Masterson, Jim Ruggeberg, Travis Ralfs and Augie Ferguson.

Despite the 17-14 record, however, the Lancers lost many late-inning leads, including a season-ending 8-4 loss to Clinton in the district semi-finals at Riverview Stadium in Clinton.

Head Coach Tom Hoeksema, in his second season at North Scott, was frustrated: "Events both on and off the field throughout the entire program made this my most miserable season, mentally, in my 18 years of coaching baseball."

He considered resigning, but it appears Hoeksema will be leading the Lancers again in '91.

Sophomore Season a Success. North Scott's sophomore softball team ended its 1990 softball season with a 24-8 record. They finished second in Conference play with a 7-2 record.

Varsity Softball

In the beginning of the 1989 varsity softball season, hardly anyone expected the "inexperienced" Lancers to go as far as they did. But as the sectional tournaments were approaching, the Lady Lancers were wrapping up their season with a 37-12 overall record. They tied for second place with Pleasant Valley in the MAC Conference maintaining a 14-4 conference record.

WHEN THE SECTIONALS arrived, the Lancers were ready to play. They went 2-1, which advanced them to regional action. In the regionals, the Lancers endured a nerve-wracking game against Pleasant Valley and won 2-0. They had captured the regional title.

The next stop for the Lady Lancers was a substate game against Cedar Rapids Jefferson. But they recorded their final loss against the Jay Hawks, ending their season.

THE LADY LANCERS received many awards this season. Tenley Murphy and Lea Twigg made first team on the 1990 MAC All-Conference team. Jean DeCock, Beth Bader, and Angie Mason were selected for second team, while Lori Osterberg received an honorable mention selection. Angie Mason was awarded Most Valuable Player, Jean DeCock was voted Most Improved Player, and Coach Johnson was voted MAC Coach of the Year.

1990 Varsity Boys Soccer

Soccer is a fairly new sport to the North Scott athletic program. Introduced in 1988, the Lancer players have come a long way from their humble beginnings. Coach Matt Miller's team finished their season with a 2W-3L-3T conference record and had an overall record of 8W-7L-3T. The team had wins throughout the season but improved their teamwork with each game. Junior Reid Koberg explained, "We had a great season despite the injuries we had. We pulled together and improved our season."

Soccer requires a lot of skill and stamina. There is a lot of sprinting and kicking involved in the game. "The season was going great for me until I landed on my head!" exclaimed Senior Ron Zimmer. "But our team did great. It was quite a season!"

13 wins sets school record

The North Scott boy's golf team is still savoring the sweet tasteof success, but with it the bitter taste of disappointment.

The Lancers finished a fine year with a disappointing two-stroke loss to Iowa City High for the honor of reaching the state tournament.

"I'M ECSTATIC about this year's success," said rookie Golf Coach Randy Denner. "All the time the guys put in this summer really helped us a lot. We came into the season ready to go and ended up second in the MAC Conference. I couldn't be more proud."

The Lancer golfers finished out a fine season with a 13-5-1 record. This broke the record for most wins by a boys golf team. The previous record was 11 victories in 1986.

The Lancer golfers were also second in the conference meet. The junior-varsity squad ended its season with a solid 7-5-1 record.

"THIS YEAR'S team was well rounded," Denner said. "A lot of our players could shoot under par, so we weren't led by just one or two individuals. If someone didn't play well there was always someone there to pick up the slack."

Those receiving varsity letters this year are Kirk Golinghorst, Andy Laake, Thane Lenig, Cory Olson, Stewart Stender, Nate Uitenbroek and Jake Vollbeer.

Seniors Cory Deutmeyer and Jeff Johannsen are fourth and third-year letter- winners respectively.

"WE ARE going to miss Cory and Jeff," Denner said. "For Cory to be a four-year letter winner is almost unheard of. Jeff and Cory took a lot of pressure off the other guys by always playing our number one or two."

"I'm ecstatic about this year's success... I couldn't be more proud." -- Coach Denner

"We have seven returning letter-winners however for next year and I'm sure the younger kids will work just as hard," Denner said.

"WE HAVE a tremendous nucleus to go on. I know the guys have high expectations for themselves next year. I can only hope they'll remember this past season and build from it. We'll be a definite favorite next year."

The guys are just as optimistic.

"I see a light shining for next year," Junior Matt Koenen said. "That light's at state."

Girls Golf

Girls Golf Team Goes Undefeated

In 1990, history was made. For the first time since Girls Golf was introduced to North Scott in 1973, the team went undefeated with a season record of 8-0 and an overall record of 9-0.

On May 14 at the Palmer Hills Golf Course, the Lancers captured the sectional title, and on May 22 they captured the regional title. At the state meet they came up against some stiff competition and placed sixth.

Coach Marcia Hartman commented, "The 1990 season was one of the most outstanding at North Scott. We took first in the MAC Conference, sectional and regional tournaments. We advanced to the state competition for the third consecutive year. The good thing is that we graduated only one person."

Tammy Stolpe said, "Beth and Dawn showed a lot of leadership, and we followed their lead. We did real well considering that we were young. Since we only lost 1 senior, I think we'll see the state meet next year!"

Most Valuable Player Awards went to Beth Bader and Dawn Freitag.

Record-setting Year for Lancer Netters

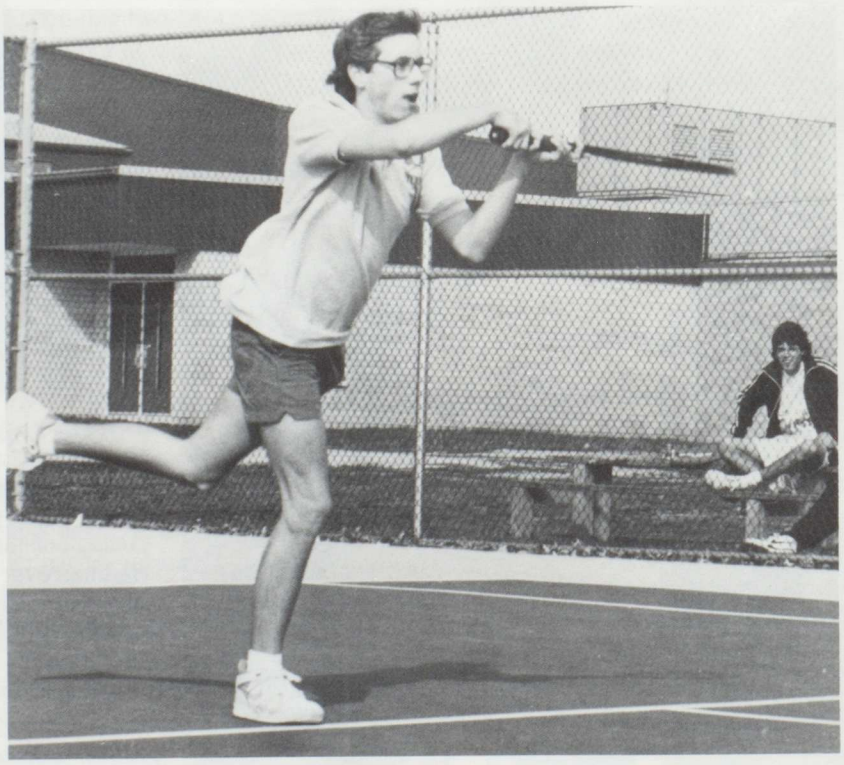

Last year, the 1990 North Scott Lancer Boys Tennis team finished with its best record in North Scott history.

The 4-5 netters pulled out thrilling one point victories over perennial tennis powers Assumption, North and Muscatine thanks to some brilliant singles play by Augie Ferguson and doubles play by Chris Bowser and Ryan Riewerts.

The Lancers, lead by first-year Coach Dave Moore, also did very well at the MAC Conference meet in May, getting singles victories from Augie Ferguson, Chris Bowser and Scott Thompson. Doubles victories came from Augie Ferguson and Kori Jorgensen. This gave the Lancers the most points ever at a conference meet.

"It was a great experience becoming the winningest team in Lancer history."

"THE TENNIS program here has rarely had a winner in the past and this year (spring '90) was no exception," said Coach John Hawley. "However, I believe that we are progressing and did achieve some success.

"We lost to North and Central by scores of 5-4. Both were matches we could've won."

The Lancers had more success in their tournament appearances as they tied for seventh in the Mississippi Athletic Conference thanks largely to the play of Susan Dobbe, Terri McDonnell and Tenley Murphy.

The 1990 boys track season was a tine of many improvements and records. Head Coach Deac Ryan said, "We had the best finish in both our indoor and outdoor meets. That was a big step for us. We sent several atheletes to state with two placing in the finals.

We had a good building year, and with the new track to run on it added more excitement for us. That was a big boast in the track program."

Brendan Austin took 3rd place in the shot for the state meet and Glen Armstrong took 6th place in the 100m.

There were three new records set during the season. On the sophmore team Dan Marti had a time of 58:09 on the 400m dash.

On the varsity team Brendan Austin had a 56'8" toss for the shot. Nick Welter set his record of 9:47:34 in the 3200m run.

Lancers finish strong

THE HIGHLIGHT of the 1990 season came on Oct. 5 when North Scott stomped Davenport West 23-0 for the first win of the season and the first Homecoming victory in seven years.

Junior Chad Haedt reflected on the season: "Our record this year didn't show the success that we had. Every game we improved. We played hard all season. We had some close games that didn't go our way, but we rose to the occasion on Homecoming!"

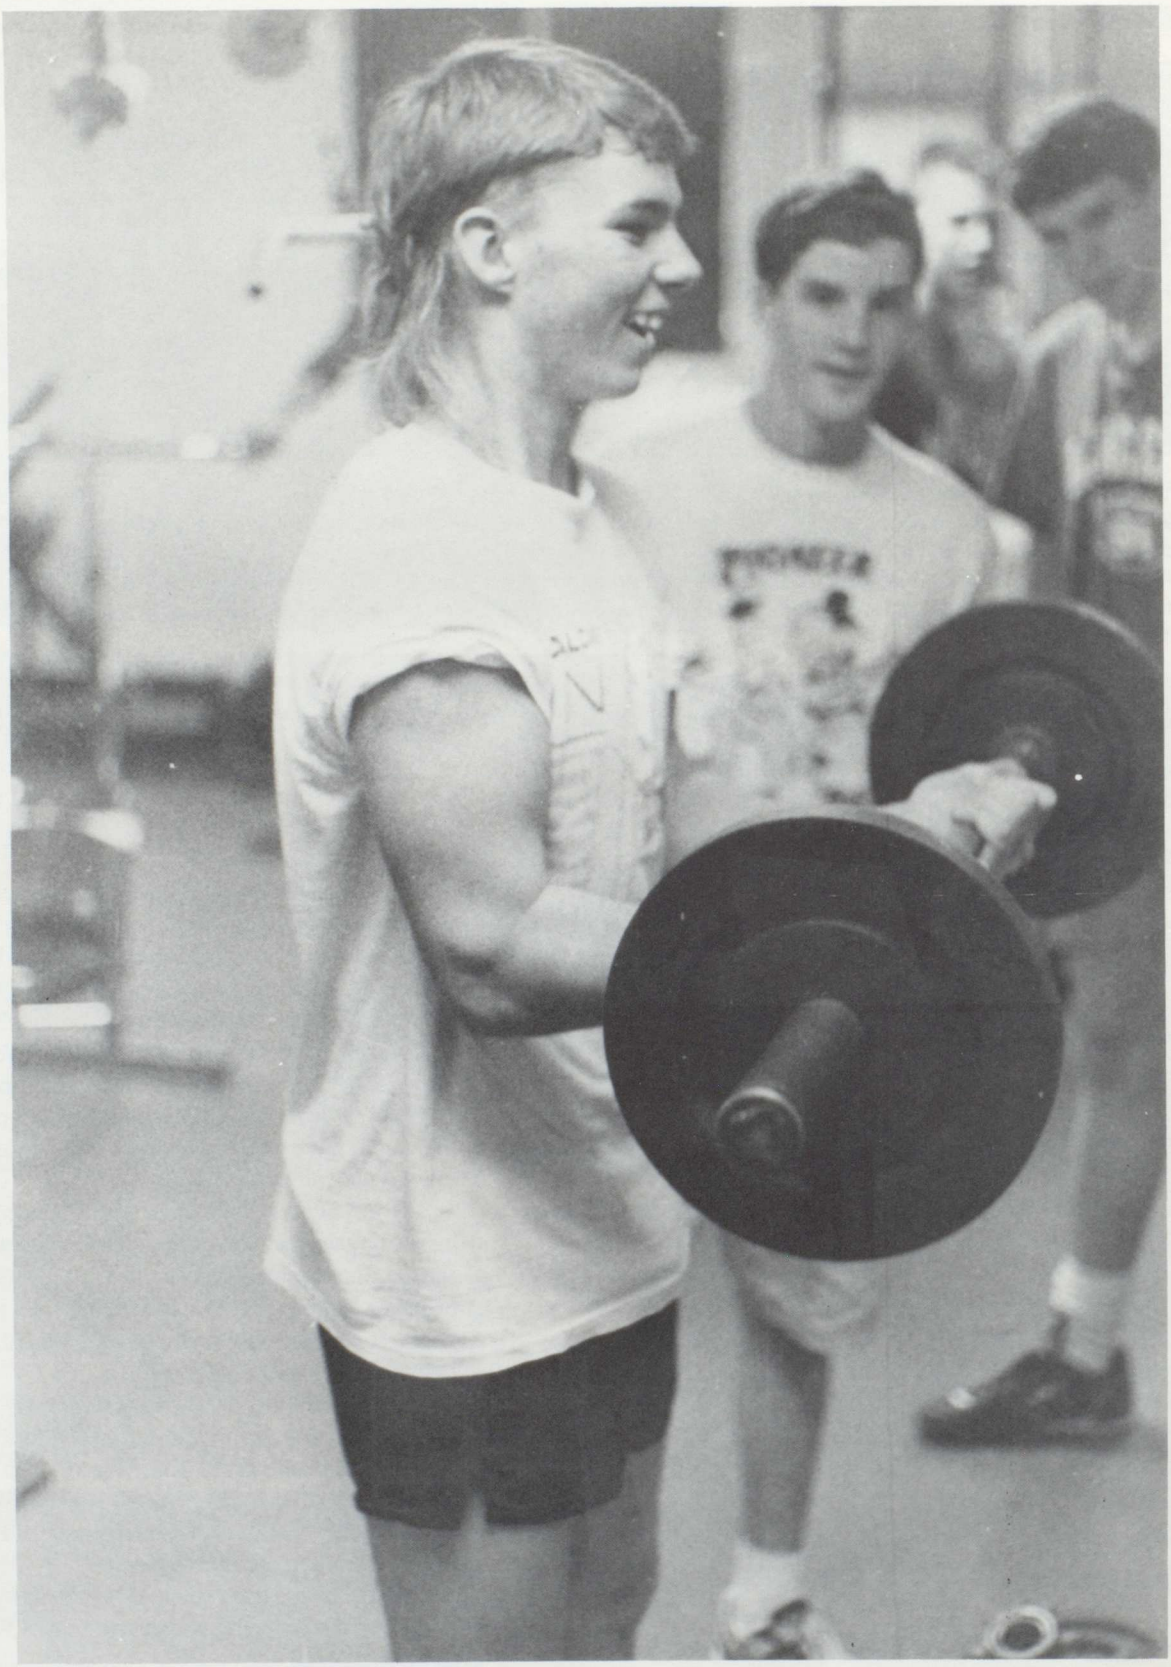

SENIOR DAN LAFRENZ said, "We improved each game. We played a lot of tough teams at the beginning of the year. We had a couple of real close games that could have gone either way. We started improving toward the end of the year."

North Scott suffered two heartbreaking, one-point losses on the road to Clinton (13-12) and at home in the season finale against Muscatine (28-27) when the Muskies scored on a TD pass on the final play of the game. It was the only time all night long that the Lancers had trailed.

That left North Scott two points away from a 4-5 season, a record that would have been more reflective of the way the team played after Head Coach Aaron Van Dyke gambled and moved Sophomore Josh Younkin to the varsity to take over at quarterback for Ryan Fier, who was moved to wide receiver.

Only those pair of one-point losses stopped the Lancers from finishing the season with 4 wins in their last five games.

"We were very young to start the season," Van Dyke said. "Our young men improved every week and played very good football the last five weeks."

Swimming

1st co-op swim team makes big splash with NS swimmers

FOR A HIGH SCHOOL without a swimming pool, two North Scott students turned in exceptional performances at the state high school swim meet held Saturday, March 2, 1991, at the University of Iowa Fieldhouse pool.

Mike Griggs, junior, and Kirk Moeller, freshmen, each were swimming for Pleasant Valley as part of a co-op swim team established this season. Griggs turned in a second place finish in the 100 butterfly and teamed with Moeller and two PV students to take third in the 200 freestyle relay.

Griggs narrowly missed bringing home an individual state championship, finished second in the 100 butterfly by only .58 of a second. The winning time was 52.89 to Griggs' 52.31.

Chris Bosworth, junior, and Andi Sharp, freshman, are the other two North Scott students to swim in PV's co-op program.

What's it like for North Scott students to participate as a team member with Pleasant Valley, one of the Lancers' greatest rivals?

"I THINK WE fit in well with the people at PV," Griggs said. PV Head Swimming Coach John Friedan agreed.

"The co-op thing worked out great, really," Friedan said. "Mike swam with our kids the last two years, so they already knew him. He'd come over to a few of our meets and we'd put him in an open event so he could get a qualifying time for district and state. He and the other kids from North Scott have been very well accepted. Our guys are happy to have them."

Friedan said that Bosworth, even though inexperienced, worked hard and "was one of our most improved swimmers."

The PV coach said Griggs and Moeller each improved a lot as a result of being pushed by their PV teammates.

"The co-op thing worked out great, really."

-- John Friedan Swimming Coach

"Mike and Kirk both have lots of talent," Friedan said. "They swam times this year that even they probably never imagined."

Friedan said for North Scott to have its own pool and its own swim team will take time.

"Maybe when the numbers really increase it could work," he said. "But the numbers could really vary from year to year."

Moeller and Griggs agree that it would be nice to swim for North Scott, but that it would take time before a good team could be built.

THE SWIMMERS practiced about two hours a night, including many Saturdays. They not only swam laps, but did lots of weight lifting and running as well. It all seems to be paying off.

"I was really happy with Mike and Kirk all year and at state," Friedan said. "Mike had kind of a tough year last year and he really worked hard to be successful this year. I'm really happy for him. He and Kirk will be even better next year."

"It was a good year," summarized Linda Behrer shortly after her first Lancer Varsity Volleyball team had been eliminated from tourney play by Cedar Rapids Jefferson.

"I felt that defensively Sarah Rathje and Julie O'Rourke played spectacularly throughout the tournament series," Behrer said. "They really deserve some credit for getting us this far.

"I ALSO THOUGHT Tiffany Olson was consistent and Kelli Ferguson has really come on. Beth Bader is such a competitor that she plays hard every night, and Tricia Graham has been our mainstay all season.

"And what about Tenley Murphy? I can't say enough about her as a setter. She works hard and does a super job."

The Lancers finished the season 16-13-2 overall and 6-3 in the MAC, good for 4th place.

INDIVIDUAL HONORS included a first team all-MAC spot for Bader while Murphy and Graham made the second team. Ferguson and Olson were honorable mention.

In addition, Graham was named to the all-tournament team at the Dubuque Wahlert Invitational.

CHEERLEADERS CATHY ROESLER, Jennifer Petersen and Tamara Stolpe direct the North Scott basketball crowd during a game in The Pit.

1990-91 basketball season brought with it seven girls-boys varsity basketball doubleheaders.

Even though both teams finished under .500 for the season, the girl-boy varsity doubleheaders allowed fans to see both squads play in the same place on the same night. In previous seasons, the girls would be at home when the boys were on the road, and vice-versa. This caused hard feelings between the squads when the majority of the fans would follow one or the other -- usually the boys -- and leave light fan support for the other team -- usually the girls.

Players, coaches and fans generally seemed to like the doubleheader arrangement. Many said they hoped it would be continued -- and expanded -- in the future.

"They developed a will to win and a desire for success. In cross country that's what it takes, and these girls finally realized it.

"JEAN HAS REALLY blossomed for us this season," he said. "She was our leader on the course for the last third of the season, and that really helped us.

"Our other senior, Barb, has really given us some emotional security doing these final few weeks, and that's something we didn't have earlier in the year."

THE LADY LANCERS went on to take 13th at state in Johnson's final year as head coach.

Rebuilding year short on wins

BEFORE THE SEASON began, Lancers' Head Coach Dean Brunson knew it could be a tough year. He had few experienced players and little size, but he hoped that the team's outstanding quickness could lead them to some upsets during the last half of the year. Unfortunately, things didn't work out that way.

At the end of January, however, it looked as if North Scott might be ready to follow that pre-season script.

AT THAT TIME, coming off a solid 77-63 win over Vince Jackson and Davenport Central, the Lancers overall record was 5-6. A shot at a winning season and a strong finish seemed possible. But then came February.

"We went 0-for-February, easily our worst stretch of the year," Brunson admitted. March didn't provide any improvement. As a result, the Lancers didn't win a game from Jan. 26 through their season-ending loss in the tourney opener to Bettendorf on March 4. Bettendorf went on to join Mississippi Athletic Conference partner Davenport West in the boys state tournament in Des Moines.

After the early-season victories, perhaps the highlight of the last half of the year came at Davenport Assumption on Feb. 23.

ASSUMPTION, WHICH went on to the state tournament in the small school class, was fortunate to nip the Lancers 77-74.

Jeff Johannsen was nearly unstoppable as he poured in 26 points against the Knights, including six three-pointers. For the night, Jeff went 8-17 from the field, drained all four of his free-throw attempts and grabbed a game-high 10 rebounds for good measure.

Ryan Fier added 18 points and freshman Luke Smith tossed in 10.

It may have been a game North Scott deserved to win, but controversy helped doom the Lancers to another close defeat.

The two teams were tied at 36 at halftime and traded the lead several times in the second half before Assumption nailed down the win.

"THIS WAS A CONTROVERSIAL game," Brunson said, "highlighted by Ryan Fier's dismissal from the game midway through the fourth quarter by the official scorekeeper's assigning him a fifth foul that no others at the scorer's table could account for.

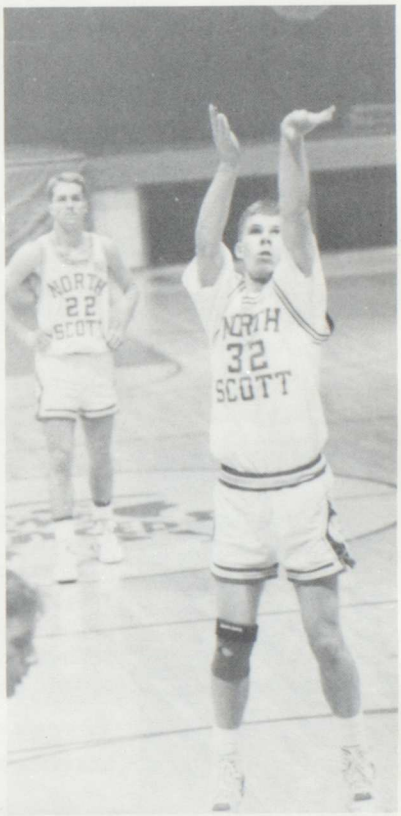

"The fact that officials at the scoretable were simultaneously watching the Iowa-Illinois game via a mini-TV during our game," Brunson said, "lends itself to severe criticism for the game management on the part of the host team."

FRESHMAN LUKE SMITH, a guard, made North Scott boys basketball history by becoming the first freshman ever to spend the season on the varsity squad.

Seniors Jeff Johannsen and Ryan Fier, team leaders all year, closed their careers in great style despite the lop-sided, season-ending tournament loss to Bettendorf.

EVEN THOUGH BETTENDORF built a 43-14 lead and coasted in for the 82-58 win, Johannsen and Fier put on a show for the Lancers. Johannsen scored 21 of North Scott's 23 first-half points on 7-of-11 field goal shooting and six-of-six at the free-throw line.

Fier then took over in the second half, scoring 16 points on a series of long-range jumpers and twisting drives.

"It was a good season overall. We also had a couple close games that should've been wins.

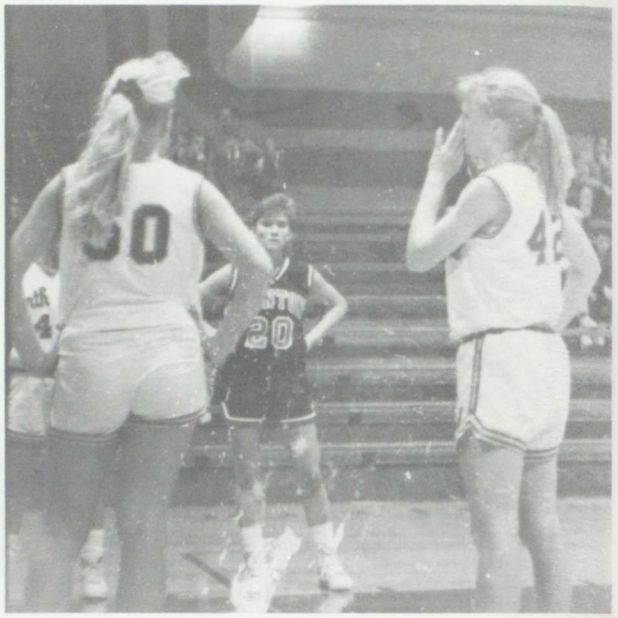

The season started off bad by losing one of our better players, (Cory Deutmeyer) but we still gave it our best shot."

Poor shooting dooms Lancer varsity girls

IF THE GIRLS varsity basketball team could have found its shooting touch, the won-loss record would have been much better. But as it was, the lack of offensive punch pretty much told the story for North Scott.

The team had to deal with many injuries which disrupted the season as well, although Head Coach Bill McCoy noted that the injuries "did get a lot of young players playing time."

It was a rebuilding year, according to McCoy, who said he "felt the kids worked very hard and represented North Scott well."

"I REALLY ENJOYED basketball this year," said senior guard Julie O'Rourke. "I think all the players got along great!"

Perhaps the highlight of the year was coming back from a 16-2 first quarter deficit to defeat Clinton 41-37 in double overtime in tournament play.

Freshmen have roller coaster season

The freshman boys basketball team had a season of ups and downs this year. They ended it with a record of 10 wins and 7 losses.

The roller coaster started with an incredible five wins at the beginning of the season when they defeated Sudlow, Walcott, J.B. Young, Clinton Red, and Assumption. They went through a period of losses, but bounced back with a three-game winning streak with three arch rivals: Pleasant Valley, DeWitt, and Assumption.

Teammate Matt Goodwin, commenting on the season, stated, "I think we did great, considering that we lost four starters."

Thein, Costello make state.

Tough year, but two make State

North Scott finished the wrestling season with a 4-7 dual meet record, 3-6 in the Mississippi Athletic Conference.

"I was quite pleased with the effort and performances of the wrestlers this season," said Head Coach Jeff Newmeister. "They have worked hard throughout the year and should feel good about their individual accomplishments."

Newmeister took his wrestlers into the district meet hoping to land as many as six in the state tournament. When the last take-down was history, however, two North Scott wrestlers actually did earn state berths, seniors Marty Costello (135) and Larry Thein (112). As a team, the Lancers finished sixth in the eight-team district field with 99 points. Bettendorf won the district title with 168.5 points.

The state meet was held at Veterans Memorial Auditorium in Des Moines Feb. 28, March 1 and 2.

Thein got things off to a good start for the Lancers with a 6-3 win over Ankeny's Travis Wilson. Larry recorded a 3-point near-fall with 20 seconds left to grab the win.

Costello took over by racing to a 6-0 lead over Cedar Rapids' Prairie's Victor Sackett. Then, after Sackett came back to cut the margin to 6-5, Marty got an escape and a late take-down to nail the match down, 9-5.

BOTH LANCERS LOST their next matches, but Marty was able to earn a sixth place finish in the wrestle-backs.

"Larry wrestled well and should be proud of his accomplishments," Newmeister said in evaluating the state meet. "It was just unfortunate that he wasn't able to get into the wrestlebacks."

Newmeister also had praise for Costello. "Marty had a great season," the head coach said. "He improved so much in the course of one year.

"TWO YEARS AGO no one would've dreamed he'd be a varsity wrestler, and here he was a state qualifier."

Costello finished the season with a 27-9 mark while Thein ended his career at 24-9.

OTHER MEMBERS of the varsity squad and their records were:

103 -- Nate Henningsen, jr. (8-15-1)
119 -- Barame Osothsongkroh, soph. (18-5, third in district)
125 -- Hiram Heysinger, soph. (18-7)
130 -- Shane Reed, jr. (6-7-1)
140 -- Brad Rathjen, jr. (3-11)
145 -- Jason Stillwell, fresh. (2-3)
152 -- Clint Christopher, soph. (18-8)

Trainers play vital role

Athletes at North Scott High School not only depend on their coaches but on the staff of student trainers as well. Directed by Mr. Paul Flynn, head trainer, the staff of student trainers is hard-working, knowledgeable and dedicated.

"Being an athletic trainer," says Pete Duytschaever, "is like participating in sports because you must work together as a team and not as an individual."

Being a trainer is more than just a job to veteran Jenny McGimpsey: "Athletic training is a lot of fun. It's also a lot of work. You meet lots of interesting people and make friendships that can last a lifetime."

Jenny says she plans to study athletic training further after high school.

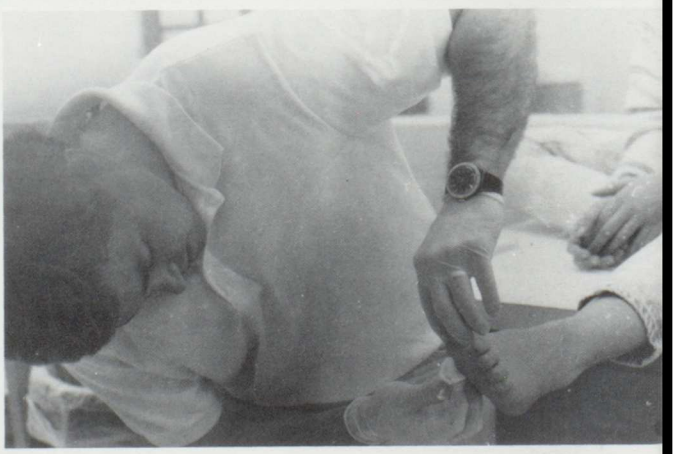

Trainers usually arrive at the sports event at least 30 minutes before the game, often earlier, and usually stay at least 30 minutes after the event. During the various sports events the trainers help to prevent injuries by wrapping ankles and taping other injuries and applying various treatments.

"I enjoy working with the student trainers," Flynn said. "You develop friendships with the students by working with them. That's what makes it enjoyable."

Without the often overlooked efforts of the North Scott student trainer staff, Lancer athletes would suffer more injuries and require longer rehabilitation time. The trainers are vital to Lancer athletics.

Dance Team

Silver Shakers Rock -n- Roll

AS A NEW edition to North Scott High School this year the dance team was a great success. In the past the cheerleaders did all of the dance routines for Homecoming and the Iowa State Drill Team Contest. This caused problems so Head Cheerleading Coach Tori Maxfield felt it was necessary to create a dance team.

The Silver Shakers danced in the pep aud. before the Homecoming game and at the game itself. They were entered in two competitions at the Iowa State Drill Team Contest. They received a Division I rating in Class III Pom and a Division I rating and placed second in the Large School lights division.

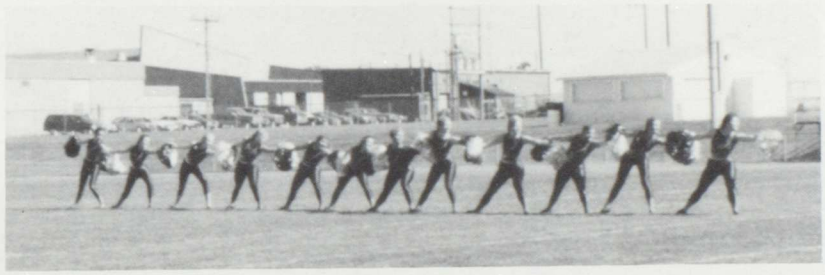

LATER IN THE year the Silver Shakers were asked to dance at Eldridge Night at a Quad City Thunder game. This was quite an experience for the dance team. Little did they know they were to follow a professional dance team.

The choreography was done by the Silver Shakers. Despite slight disagreements they were a close group that stuck together and had fun.

North Scott develops Japanese connection...

Johannsen Takes Japan

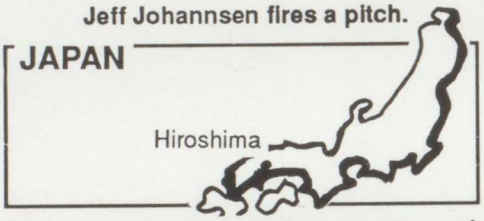

"It's a once-in-a-lifetime experience," said Jeff Johannsen, senior

Last summer, (1990) Johannsen was invited by the Amateur Athletic Union to play on the Iowa AAU Select Baseball Team in Japan. He and 100 other high school baseball players from throughout the state of Iowa attended a try-out in Des Moines. At the end of the day, Johannsen learned that he was one of the 14 who would play in Japan.

On Aug. 14, 1990, he arrived in Japan after a tedious twelve-hour flight. Johannsen's impression of Japan is, "Everything about it is American, except for the language."

Jeff Johannsen fires a pitch.

"Their drivers are crazy," he added. "They'd go 55 mph and cut you off at three inches."

Johannsen and his team played six games. The Japanese teams consisted of 17 and 18 year old high school students who were, as Johannsen described, "Fairly good fielders and fairly good hitters. They played eight months a year so they were very baseball centered." They beat the Iowans five games out of six.

On Aug. 22, Johannsen returned to his home field, ten pounds lighter.

"I hated the food. If you want to lose weight, go over there," Jeff quipped.

"It makes you realize how much you love America."

Yoshimoto Takes Iowa

For most people, May 10, 1990, was just another day. For Yumi Yoshimoto, North Scott's new Japanese teacher, however, it was very important. It was the day she arrived in the United States from Japan.

Yoshimoto was raised in Hiroshima, Japan, which is about the size of New York City. Within the city is Hiroshima University, where Yoshimoto received her education.

Yumi Yoshimoto

Shortly after graduation, she passed an interview, received her passport and came to the United States. She came to Iowa because "I had never come to the United States and I thought Iowa was very American. Iowa is the only place I know in the U.S. It's excellent!"

Yoshimoto taught in DeWitt as well as North Scott. "I like North Scott very much," she said. "It's full of energy."

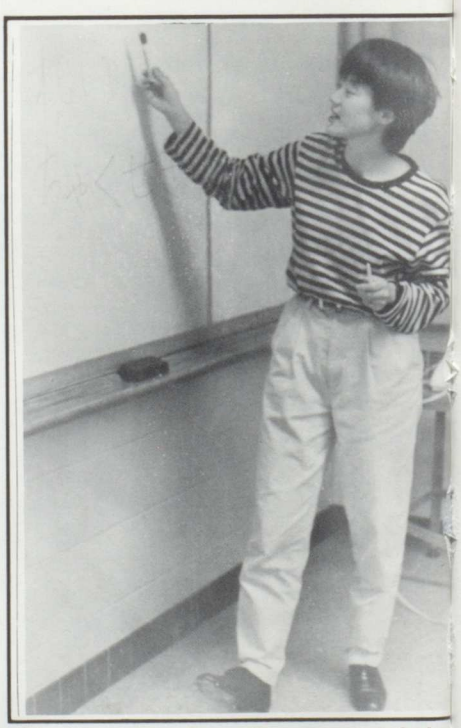

When Yoshimoto wasn't busy teaching, she read, watched TV and took walks at her DeWitt home.

"I like sports, too," she added.

The 24-year-old received her driver's license in August, 1990. She had never driven a car before, not even in Japan. She thinks driving is "O.K."

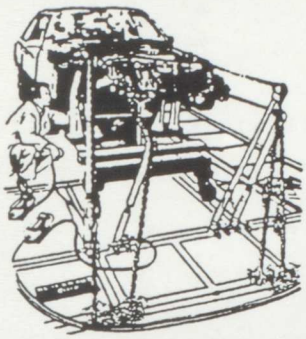

"I thought Iowa was very American."

"I came here to experience. I want to try anything," Yoshimoto said. "Especially, I want friends. I was going to be a pharmacist, but I am here now. Nobody knows the future."

'Do I hear $400?'

"YES!"

THAT WAS THE resounding answer from Don Bennett of the Eldridge Meat Market.

The question was asked Friday night, Feb. 1, 1991, at the North Scott Booster Club's annual Cake Auction held in conjunction with the varsity girls and boys basketball doubleheader against Muscatine in The Pit.

By bidding $400 for the cake donated and baked by Geri Brehmer of Sweet Creations in McCausland, Bennett topped all bidders.

LINDA OLSON'S cake was a close second, earning a $350 sale price from Bader Painting.

There were so many outstanding cakes, however, that seven others sold for $100 or more.

A total of 91 cakes were sold, including 41 baked by North Scott students.

STEPHANIE RISIUS baked the cake judged No. 1 among student donations. Brandi Younkin's cake was second.

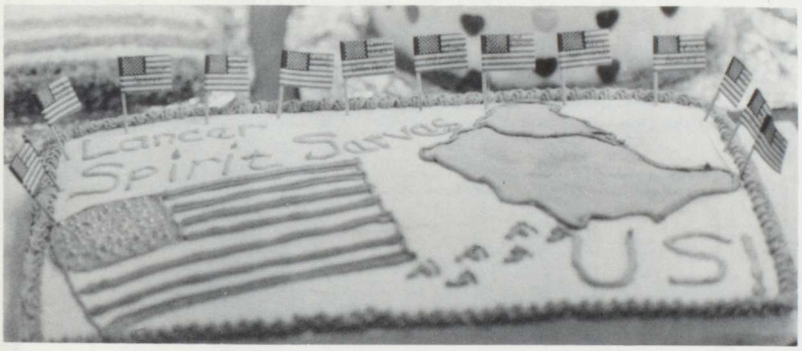

When the auction was over, the Booster Club reported a profit of about $4,500 from the fund-raising event.

A patriotic theme was common. Many of the cakes were decorated in honor of the American forces in Saudi Arabia and the "Desert Storm" war against Iraq, including several North Scott graduates.

THE WHOLE EVENING impressed Eldridge's Duane Miller so much that he wrote a letter of praise to the North Scott Press. Here's part of what Mr. Miller wrote:

"The North Scott Choir sang a beautiful rendition of the National Anthem. A list of North Scott graduates serving in the Middle East was read.

"As a moment of silence was requested everyone in The Pit (for the first time I can recall), was quiet. When the players were introduced, we saw they all had U.S. flags sewn to their uniforms...."

The annual North Scott Booster Club Cake Auction on Feb. 1 attracted 91 cakes that brought in about $4,500 for North Scott athletics.

SPIRIT CAKES -- The $400 cake baked by Geri Brehmer of Sweet Creations (top) and other examples of the brilliant combination of cake-baking talent, North Scott spirit and American pride are shown here.

To Jacque Hammes:

Thanks for being there, Jac! I'll miss you.

Your little Sis,
Kelli

TO THE CLASS OF '91,

I wanted to look back and remember all our years at North Scott. During elementary school we hardly knew anyone at the other schools. Occasionally we would meet at field days or through Biddy Basketball (except for the Park View kids!) But that's about as close as we got to knowing each other.

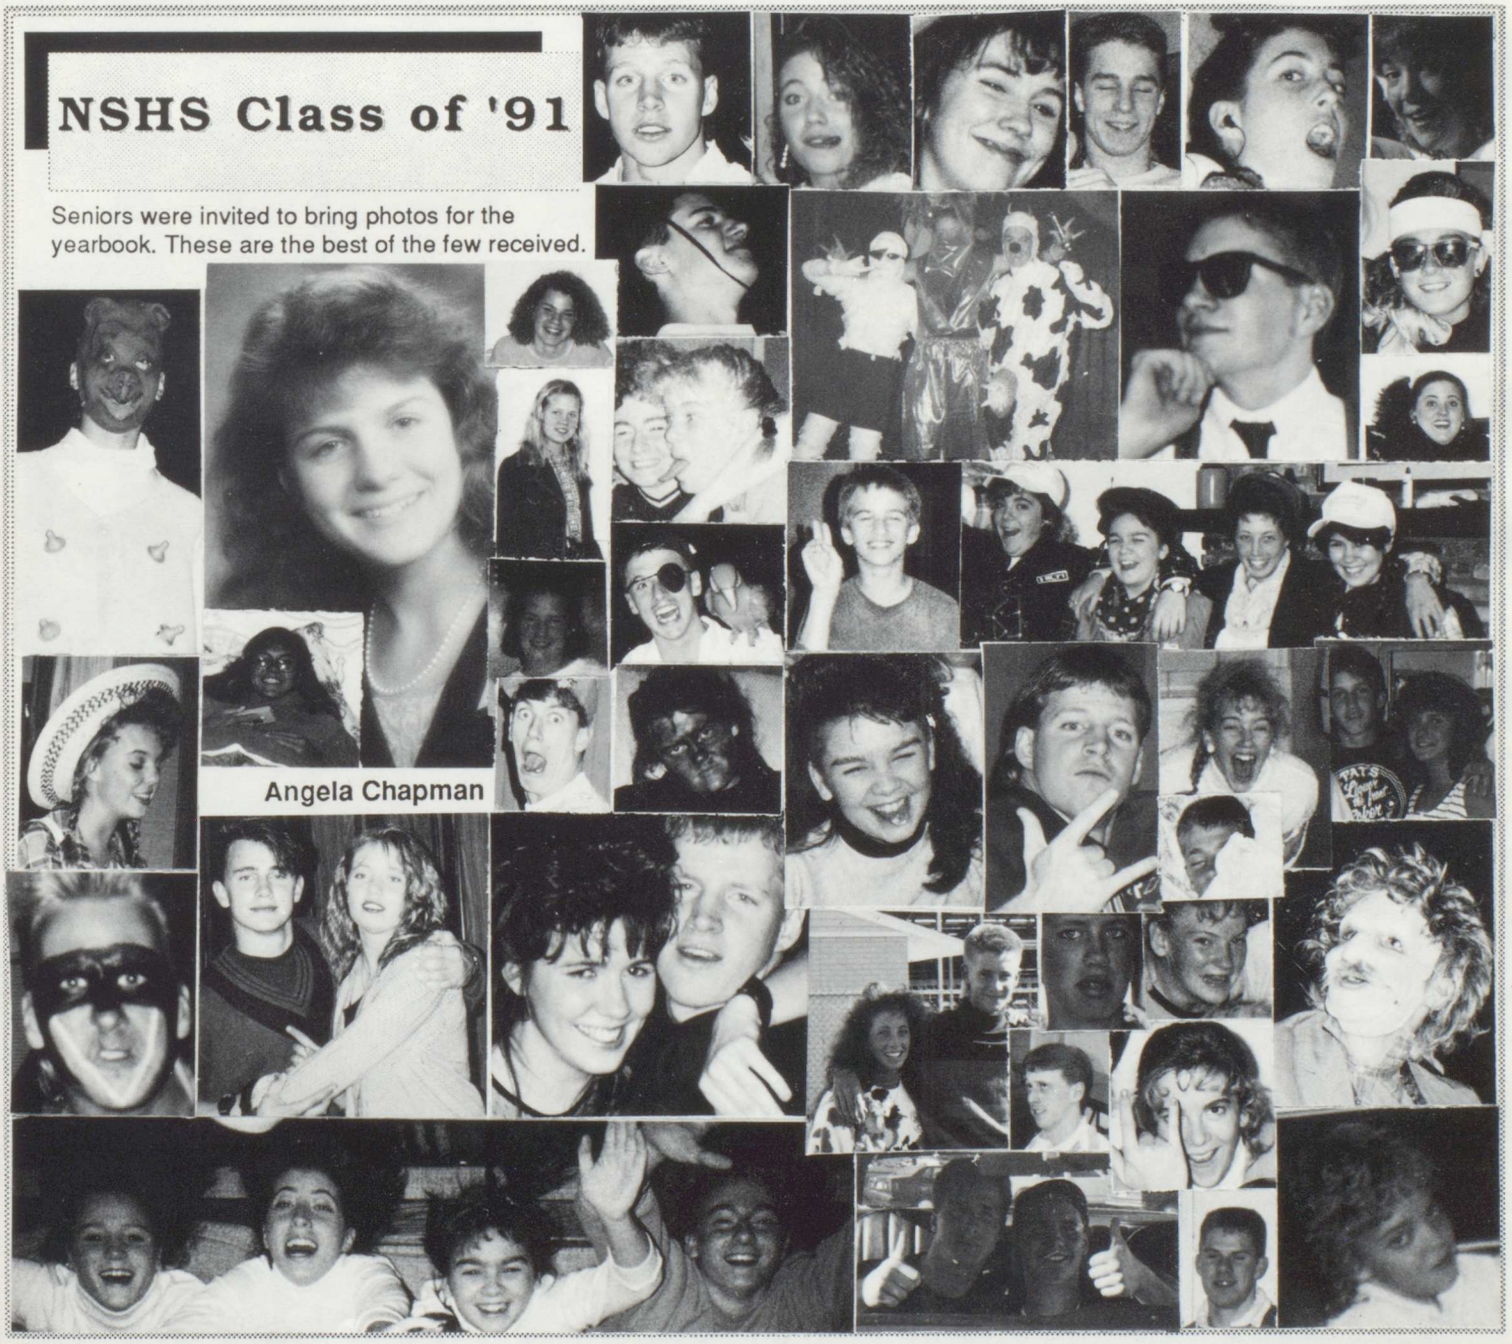

That all changed once we hit Junior High. We finally all came together as one big group, "the Class of '91." Since Junior High truly marked our beginning together, Sandy Manley and I decided to recapture that time with everyone's Junior High picture. See them on page 170. (Julie O'Rourke managed to lose her picture.)

Once we made it through Junior High it was off to High School. Now that our Senior Year is over and we're graduates -- the Class of '91 -- it's time to move on, but I hope someday when you look back you'll remember the good friends and good times we had -- a few are shown below -- as members of the Class of '91! Good luck, and don't forget to Rock On!

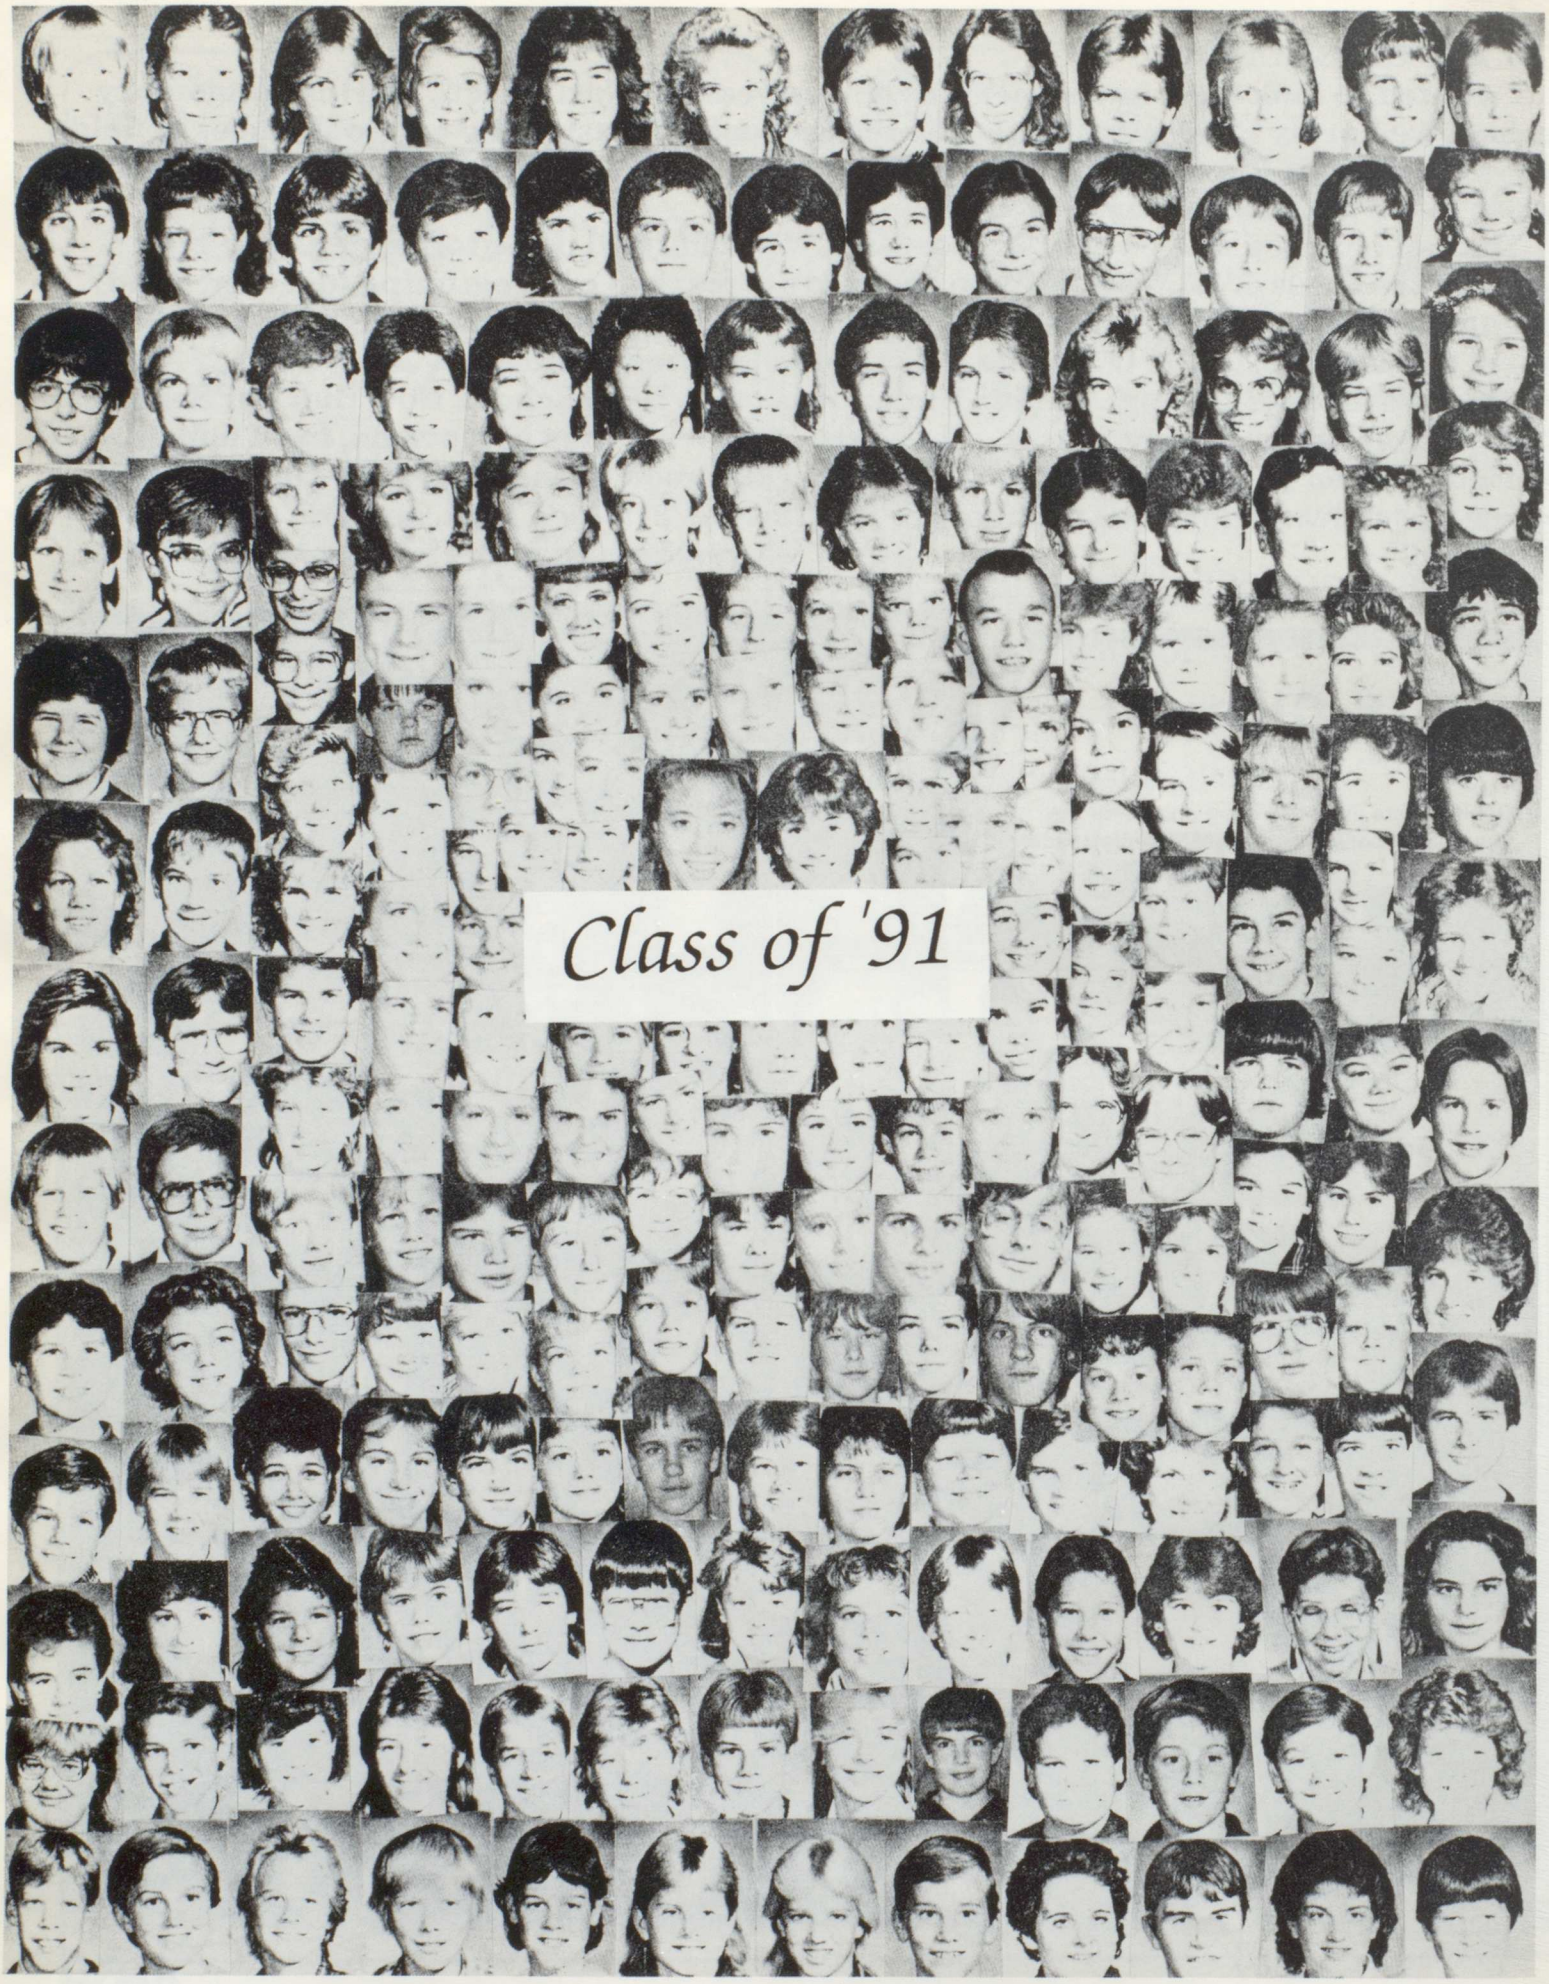

-- Gretchen Madsen, President, Class of '91

NSHS Class of '91

Seniors were invited to bring photos for the yearbook. These are the best of the few received.

Angela Chapman

Class of '91

We couldn't have done it without you...

Thanks

A yearbook is many things to many people and it doesn't just happen. It takes the combined efforts of many to compile The Shield -- a history book, a book of memories, a collage of life at North Scott High School in 1990-91.

The '91 Shield staff and advisers have tried to treat everyone fairly. If you think we failed, we apologize. There was no intent to slight any individual or organization.

To whatever extent we may have succeeded, we owe sincere thanks to many.

In no particular order, then, we publicly offer our thanks.

FIRST, WE THANK Scott Campbell, editor, and Bill Tubbs, publisher of the North Scott Press. Even though about 80 percent of the photography in the yearbook is the work of North Scott students, the Press helped to fill in some vital gaps. Mr. Campbell was always friendly and cooperative despite his own busy schedule.

Rob Pontarelli of Pontarelli Portrait Studios in Bettendorf was kind enough to photograph the Lancer marching band for us without charge.

Denise Greve, who worked as a substitute often and served as assistant sophomore girls basketball coach, photographed the symphonic and concert bands.

Ryan Riewerts, Greg Langfitt, Brant Peitersen, Tracy Coulter and Brian Wallis contributed various photos even though they were not members of the yearbook staff.

Ed Last and his replacement, Jim Jordan, were great helps in their role as Jostens Publishing Co. representative.

WE WANT to thank all the members of the faculty, administration and staff for your cooperation in allowing us to schedule photos and interviews, to stay late and be in the way, to put up with our various requests for help and support.

In particular we wish to thank first-year Principal Linda McClurg for her patience, understanding and cooperation in many instances, not the least of which was the approval of the first ever Yearbook Distribution and Signing Party. (Rock on!)

OUR ADVERTISERS deserve a special thank-you. Kind words are wonderful, but money pays the bills.

The yearbook receives no tax dollars and, therefore, must rely on the sale of yearbooks, fund-raisers and the support of advertisers to cover costs.

More than $2,200 was raised through yearbook advertising this year. We encourage everyone to patronize our advertisers and let them know you appreciate this particular support of North Scott High School.

A SPECIAL thank-you must go to Denny Hennigan for his willingness to take on the newly created role of assistant adviser. With no increase in pay, he devoted great time and effort to the yearbook in general and was the leader of the advertising effort.

Bernie Peeters, art instructor, also volunteered to join the yearbook instructional staff as art director. His work with the art students on the yearbook staff paid off not only in an outstanding cover but in many other additions to the yearbook through student art.

Finally, to those we may have overlooked, we thank you, too.

The Shield is many things to many people and doesn't just happen. To all of you who helped make it all those things, we say...

Thank you!

COLOPHON

The 1991 Shield is Volume 33. This issue contains 176 pages printed by Josten's, Topeka, KS, represented by Mr. Jim Jordan. The cover is "true life" laminated lithography. The cover artwork, created by Senior Amber Melcher with help from other art students enrolled in the Yearbook Production class, was printed on laminated 120-board weight cover. The book was printed on 80-pound gloss paper.

Included this year with the yeabook was a 6¼" red transparent one-sided phonograph record made by Eva-Tone of Clearwater, Florida. The recording lasted 3½ minutes. One thousand copies were made at a total cost of $387. Most of the candid and group photographs were taken, printed, and processed by students enrolled in the Yearbook Production class. The main copy type is 10-point Times. Cutlines are 9-point Helvetica. Individual copies sold for $22 and were distributed at the First Annual North Scott Yearbook Signing and Distribution Party on Thursday, May 23, 1991, from 7 to 10 p.m. Approximately 750 copies were produced. We thank you all for letting us share this recording of the year.

Message from the Co-editors

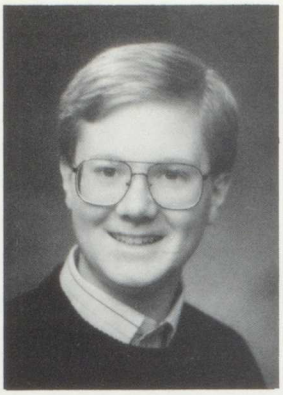

Looking at previous yearbooks, I never had any idea of how much work they actually involved. When I was asked to be an editor I was so surprised that I thought about it all summer. I never pictured myself in that position. It has been a definite learning experience. I learned how to use a Macintosh, how to do lay-outs, and how to work with Dave. Just kidding, Dave, thanks for putting up with all of my complaints, questions, and absences. Thank you Mr. Kielkopf for all of your advice and help. I never realized how much time the yearbook was going to take. Staying after school with Dave and Mr. Kielkopf was just daring on my part. I can't count how many 'Top Ten' lists Dave made about me and my actions.

I think we had an excellent staff who worked hard to make this yearbook different than any yearbook North Scott has produced. We wanted to try new things to help all of you remember all that has happened this year. It wasn't always easy to have everyone agree on one idea. Coming up with a theme and cover wasn't as easy as it seems.

Thanks to my parents for putting up with late nights. I think my mom wanted to kill me sometimes. Thank you staff for all of your work and Mrs. McClurg for letting us try the yearbook signing party.

The yearbook made this year memorable. I made a lot of good friends and learned what a responsibility it is to produce a yearbook. It was a lot more involved than I thought, but it was fun. I really hope you enjoy it!!!

Amy Drenter

Well, after reading what you wrote, Amy there isn't much left to say. I shall endeavor to do my best though.

Thanks to the awesome staff that put up with Amy and me and created the best Shield ever. Thanks also to Mr. Kielkopf, Mr. Hennigan, and Mr. Peeters for keeping us on the right track (most of the time). Thank you to my mom who made an occasional late supper. Finally, thanks to Amy for making this a fun year. I actually got the most done when you were gone. Just kiddin', "Aim". Don't you just love those one-syllable nicknames?

If you're reading this during or after the First Annual Shield Signing and Distribution Party, I hope you enjoy(ed) it. It's not a week, but, then again, it's more than one day of hall-passing time and a lunch period combined.

I'm sure you've heard about David Letterman's Top Ten lists by now. You may have also seen the ones I wrote that were published in the Lance. I'm not quite sure why I like to create them; it must have something to do with the first name. If you have trouble counting them, Amy, I can help you....

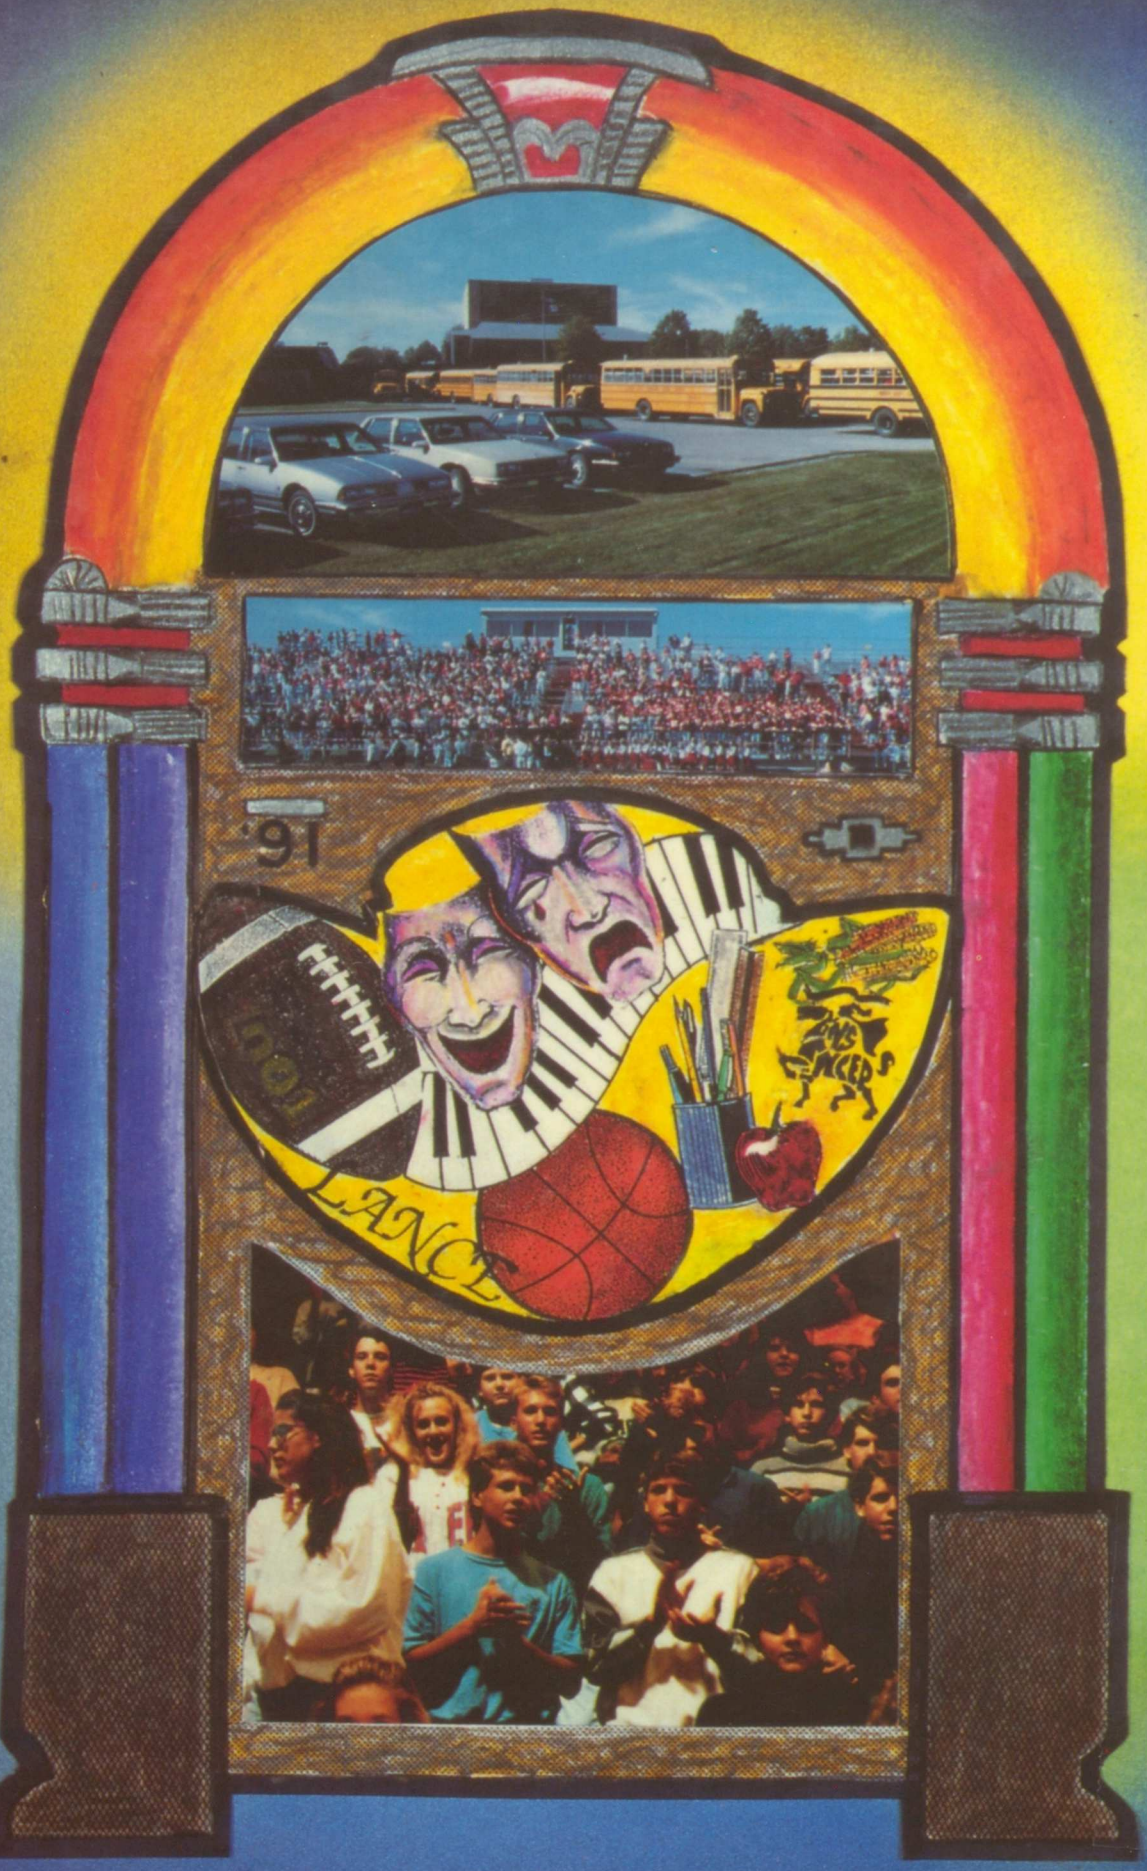

Anyway, here's one more "for the record." It's not the most original work I've done, but it's very funny. Enjoy!!!

David Kilzer
